

An invitation to Capt. D. E. Earnhart, Chaplain at Fort Des Moines, brother of your editor, for script to you, brings the following:

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR

BY
DANIEL E. EARNHART.

Here are the ten commandments on the "Good Neighbor Policy."

1. Thou shalt love across racial lines, for if one's love does not include other races he cannot call it divine or Christian love.
2. Thou shalt not judge a man by his color. If you did then you could not have any basis for judging the white man, since white is a mixture of all colors.
3. Thou shalt respect each race for its contribution to human progress. The white man is to be respected for producing the law upon which our Christian civilization rests. The black man is to be respected for his contribution to the world of art, music, homespun philosophy, humor, and physical prowess.
4. Thou shalt not build thine own racial superiority by lying epithets hurled at other races, such as: Greasers, Yellowbellies, Wops and Niggers.
5. Thou shalt respect the wives and daughters of other races.
6. Thou shalt share the natural advantages with thy neighbor. If we cannot ride and plow and haul without rubber and gas then the likelihood is that our neighbors cannot either.
7. Thou shalt not exploit thy neighbor.
8. Thou shalt not hog the neighborhood road, the economic road, the medical science road, or the religious road.
9. Thou shalt not live by the sweat of thy neighbor's brow. God has built His universe on moral law and we have no right to live in ease and luxury at the expense of others who sweat and die to produce the royalties on which we splurge.
10. Thou shalt swap eyes and ears with thy neighbor. Then you can see his little children as he sees them; and then can you hear the parent's beating heart as he longs for an even chance at livelihood and happiness in God's world.
