HIGHLANDS COMMUNITY HOSPITAL

The Highlands Community Hospital has been fulfilling its function to the town to the limit of its ability.

The many persons who have needed hospitalization will verify the vital necessity of its existence.

Through the medium of the Galax News a series of articles will be published based on your questions regarding the problems of the Hospital. Send your questions to the hospital office. Such answers should clarify the many controversial issues. All

CRAFTSMAN'S FAIR OF THE SOUTHERN GUILD

It is quite a long ride up to Milton, West Virginia but if you ever go, the trip would be well worth your while for while you are there you may see craftsmen blowing glass at the Blenk Glass Co. Blowing glass is an old art and some say you must go all the way to Venice, Italy to see it done right, but we in the Southern Highlands have our own fine tradition of craftsmen and craftsmanship. If you are really interested in seeing some fine enamel work, on copper and silver, in the form of jewelry, a ride down to North East Georgia to Rising Fawn to visit the studio of Virginia Dudley would prove very worth while. Her delicate work is typical of the mixture of

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL ELECTED

Highlands School committee recently elected Mr. Joseph E. Bowles to serve as principal of the local school. This election was approved by the Macon County Board of Education Tuesday, July 5.

Mr. Bowles is thirty years old, is married and has one child. He holds the B.S. Degree from Western Carolina College and expects to receive his M.A. Degree from the same institution this summer.

Mr. Bowles has five years experience in school work all of which has been in Weldon High School. For the past three years he held the position of high school principal.

He is a member of the Baptist Church. Mr. Bowles comes highly recommended by the school officials of Weldon as well as others of the same town. He wished to get located in Western North Carolina in order to be nearer his and his wife's relatives.
