

"UNDERWATER!"

Howard Hughes' "Underwater!", a three million dollar Technicolor production which reveals in Superscope for the first time the new exciting sub-sea world so prominently featured in recent magazines, will play at the Galax Theatre, on Tues. Aug. 23.

Critics have agreed that only the new anamorphic process on the giant wide screen could so successfully bring to this adventure drama of skin-diving action and aqua-lung thrills the beauty and excitement which distinguishes the new RKO Radio production.

Critics have been unanimous too in stating that "Underwater!" presents Jane Russell to better advantage than in any film in which she has yet starred. Whether she is making love to her ruggedly handsome husband, Richard Egan, dancing with rainbow-chasing Gilbert Roland or sharing their dangers in wresting a fabulous treasure from the shark-in-fested hull of a long-sunken Spanish galleon, Miss Russell is more than a feast for the eyes.

The action of "Underwater!" takes place above and below the waters of the Caribbean. It moves swiftly from a Cuban yacht to a small tropic island and, largely, into the ocean's depths, where the color cameras rove over coral beds and valleys, probe into submarine caverns and through a ghostly, unknown world such as no movie has ever shown before.

Also co-starred in "Underwater!" is lovely Lori Nelson as a secretary who, through a legal technicality and a fugitive boss, finds herself in charge of a yacht which Egan and Roland want for their adventure. Featured in the cast are Robert Keith, as a padre who joins the treasure hunt because of his knowledge of Caribbean history, and Joseph Calleia, as a crafty shark-fisher, who tries to hijack the treasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Coley and son, of Wake Forest, N.C, are visiting the Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Walter.

Dr. and Mrs. C.R. Bittle and children spent the week-end visiting relatives in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Randall of Cincinnati, Ohio, is spending some time at her home on Billy Cabin.
