

LOCK AWAY TO DIXIE HALL
for the latest fabrics
and home furnishings

Past and present blend at Dixie Hall, on Main Street, Franklin, N. C. Four of its spacious rooms were built in the 1830's. In 1860 Great-grandfather added 10 rooms and the unique latticed porches. He built to last: Pegged beams, carved mantels, wide poplar boards. This old Southern home escaped the horrors of war and "modernization."

Marching on, Dixie Hall is now my Summer shop. Here I can supply you -- direct from my Winter shop in New York -- with exclusive fabric designs for: CURTAINS, UPHOLSTERY, SLIPCOVERS, RUGS.

ART EXHIBITION

The Hudson Library will stage an art exhibition the latter part of July. The art to be limited to pictures in any medium....no photographs though. In order that many may enter no one can have more than three entries. Who knows, some picture shown here may become world famous. So all who would like to enter please telephone Helen Augur 2075. Also if you think anyone should enter, but may not, please give their name to Miss Augur. Oh, I forgot to say that the price for viewing the exhibition will only be fifty cents. The money to reappear in the form of new books.

HIGHLANDS GARDEN CLUB PROJECTS

The maintenance committee of the Highlands Garden Club has been busy planting around the Chamber of Commerce Building, and putting up a picket fence. They have also cleaned off the Edwards' lot adjacent to Brown's store; weeded and planted shrubbery around the Town House, and still have several projects to be taken care of soon, among them being the Kelsey Memorial.

Making Highlands an attractive place and keeping it clean is one aim and object of each member of the Garden Club, and we seek your co-operation in reaching our goal.

WITS AND LITTLE WITS

If someone at Wits End Shop makes you feel that you simply must not miss seeing Little Wits End, down the street, don't be surprised, as it's all in the family. Mr. and Mrs. Earle Young have this season assumed the ownership and management of the two complimentary businesses.

Wits End Shop opens its 16th season in Highlands specializing in old prints, silver, porcelains, china, attractive home accessories including lamps and rugs appropriate for country living or the Town house, and the unusual in gifts which has made the shop a landmark in Highlands.

Little Wits End was opened last year and was received with such enthusiasm here that its choice of "irresistable fashions in pink and blue" has been greatly increased and the shop itself expanded. Here one finds adorable infants' and children's dresses by Yolande; first school frocks by Miller Frocks; childrens' sweaters, togs and toys; gifts for that precious new baby, as well as jewelry, personal gifts, and toiletries by 4711.

It's fun to look and fun to buy "where ye go when ye are already at thine own wits' end, and have found nobodie home"

BUCKMILLERS' SWEDISH MASSAGE CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Buckmiller are opening an office here this year which offers at present two phases of a variety of services at their Swedish Massage Center in Winston-Salem, namely; Swedish massage and face peels.

Eventually Mrs. Buckmiller, a graduate nurse and masseuse, will offer the slendering course if demand warrants the moving of necessary equipment. At this time Mr. Buckmiller is readying the office and making home calls to do treatments.
