"THE SEVEN YEAR ITCH"

By paying a considerable sum of money in addition to the record price paid for the stage comedy hit, "The Seven Year Itch," which is in the third year of its continuous run on Broadway, Twentieth Century-Fox received permission to release the motion picture version concurrently with the play. The film, starring Marilyn Monroe and Tom Ewell, will play at the Galax Theatre Wed., August 1. The supporting cast includes such stellar players as Evelyn Keyes, Sonny Tufts, Robert Strauss, Oscar Homolka, Marguerite Chapman, Victor Moore and Roxanne.

Many scenes, such as "The Hayride," which were referred to only in dialogue on the stage, are actually shown on the screen.

Tom Ewell, who originated the role of Richard Sherman, the summer-bachelor husband with the roving eye and vagrant imagination, recreated it for the screen. In the story he resolves to lead a quiet life sending his wife and son to a summer resort, but his vivid imaginings result in a continuous chain of hilarious incidents. Like most husbands he has moments in which he visualizes himself as a Casanova, desired by many beautiful women. When he invited "The Girl," Marilyn Monroe, in for a drink he really complicates matters. She likes his air-cooled apartment so much that she moves in to stay for the summer.

Even the counselling of a friendly psychiatrist, who points out that every husband gets that old itch to stray during his seventh year of marriage, fails to quiet the workings of Ewell's conscience.

A strong contestant for the prize in the Hog Calling Contest on Hillbilly Day is Dr. Rupert H. Cooke, Vice-President and Business Manager of Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Mississippi. Dr. & Mrs. Cooke are heuse guests of Dr. & Mrs. Richard G. Cox, Sequoyah Ridge. Dr. Cox was president, and Mrs. Cox, Dean of Students of Gulf Park College until they retired in 1950.
