NATURE STUDY CLASSES

Nature study classes for children, ages 6-14, are now being conducted at the Museum of Natural History. During the month of June, classes are held each Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10:00 A.M. - 11:00 A.M. During July and August, the children in age group 6-8 will meet each Tuesday morning from 10:00 to 11:30 A.M., and children in age group 9-14 will meet each Thursday morning from 10:00 - 11:30 A.M.

The program this summer will be directed towards training each child to develop some natural history project in which he or she is interested. On Tuesday or Thursday (depending on the age group to which the child belongs) the counselor will work with each child on the project chosen by the child. Plans for the work which the child will do at home on his or her project for the following week will be outlined.

Charlie Ray Norton graduated this spring from North Carolina State College with the degree of BS in Forestry Management. He has a position for the summer with the Southeastern Experiment Station, Asheville. He will return to State College this fall to begin work on his Master's degree in Forest Pathology.

Dr. James P. Satterwhite and family visited in Highlands last weekend. Dr. Satterwhite a former Doctor at the Highlands Community Hospital, has been in Japan as a Medical Missionary for the past four years. They plan to return to Japan in September.
