TEXANS VISIT THE HODSDONS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bachman, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Nicholas Hodsdon, are visiting the five Hodsdons (mother, father, son, daughter, and dog) at their summer home on Mirror Lake. The Bachmans flew from their home at Wichita Falls, Texas, and arrived at Atlanta, Georgia, on Thursday, July 3. They will stay in Highlands for two weeks before returning home.

The two families are sharing vacation spots. In 1956, the Hodsdons (minus dog) drove for a visit to the Bachman's summer cottage in Red River, New Mexico--the Highlands of the Rockies.

Dialect differences are confusing but amusing at the happy gathering; the Bachmans and Mrs. Hodsdon are native Texans who talk true Texas Territory twang, Mr. Hodsdon is Bostonian to the bone ("Pahk the cah in Hahvahd Squah."), the Hodsdon children are Florida Crackers and speak pure Miamian, and the dog, Hi Jinx Hodsdon, is a native from Highlands who barks with a distinctive hillbilly accent.
