"LES GIRLS"

Producer Sol C. Siegel, who gave the screen one of its greatest musical hits in "High Society", now follows with another musical bonanza in "Les Girls."

Again the astute producer has brought together a brilliant cast, starring Gene Kelly, Mitzi Gaynor, England's Kay Kendall, making her Hollywood debut, Taina Elg and Jacques Bergerac.

The story begins in London with a suit for libel. Sybil (Kay Kendall), the English member of the act, now married to Sir Gerald Wren, has written her gay memoirs about her experience with the troupe, which was known as "Barry Nichols and Les Girls," Barry (Gene Kelly) being its American entrepreneur. In the book she had written that Angele Ducros (Taina Elg), the act's French dancer, had attempted to commit suicide because of her unrequited love for Barry. Angele, now married to Pierre Ducros, furiously denies this statement and is suing Sybil for slander.

"Les Girls" will play Wednesday, August 6, at the Galax Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lee and children, Richard, Suzanna, and Chris, of Houston, Texas, arrived here Monday for a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Lee and Mrs. Madge Lee at Lee's Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clarkson and children, Sue, Nancy, Hugh, and Benny, of Fairfax, Virginia are guests of their uncle, Mr. C.D.S. Clarkson at his home on Mirror Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Bauchens, of Naples, Fla., are occupying the Strickland House on Whiteside during August.
