"THE MATING GAME"

"The Mating Game," starring Debbie Reynolds, Tony Randall and Paul Douglas, with Fred Clark and Una Merkel, is a hilarious comedy about a zany family, which generates laughter from beginning to end.

Based on H.E. Bates best-selling novel, "The Darling Buds of May," the story concerns a family of non-conformists living on a ramshackle Maryland farm with a menagerie of animals, who becomes involved with non-payment of income taxes-- and a young income tax investigator.

Debbie, in her most sophisticated role to date, plays the daughter; Tony Randall the confused investigator; and Paul Douglas is the family head.

Filmed in CinemaScope and Metrocolor, "The Mating Game" was directed by George Marshall from a screen play by William Roberts. Philip Barry, Jr. is the producer of this happy MGM attraction which will play Friday, August 14, at the Galax Theatre.
