

FAIR OF THE FOUR SEASONS

Donations of books, either hard-cover or pocket edition, are being asked for by the Book Table at the Fair of the Four Seasons, sponsored by the Hospital Auxiliary. Magazines will be acceptable too, if they are of the reference type rather than the timely ones that will be out of date by the time the Fair is held - July 22 and 23rd. Horticulture, Antiques, National Geographic are the type that will sell rather than Life, Time or Newsweek.

So far as books are concerned, the need is for new ones, either novels or non-fiction. Old, little-read editions that have proven themselves unappealing to an owner are apt to prove the same to a buyer at the Fair.

But donations of good, readable books will be highly acceptable. The Library will cull them out, keeping such copies as are needed on their shelves, selling all duplicates at the Book Table at the Fair. So, if you've finished a novel or two, a Who-Done-It or three, or a useful magazine - please take them by the Library any Monday through Saturday
