

ANDROCLES IN PRODUCTION CON'T
 the title role of Androcles. Mr. Swope, who is presently studying with Lee Strasbert in New York, has served with the U.S. Foreign Service (Dept. of State) in Germany, Nicaragua, Italy, and India.

W.D. Haining, the Lion Androcles has to conquer, hails from Yazoo, Mississippi, and has been associated with the Theatre for three years. He was last seen in "The Red Shoes" last season as the Mayor.

Leading the excellent cast are: Nicole Jaffe, as Megaera, the shrewish wife of Androcles, who did such a fine job as Millie in PICNIC; Morton Lewis, playing the handsome Captain, returns to the HCT stage after portraying the newsboy in PICNIC; Michele Wiedeke, Lavinia, starred in PICNIC as the lovely Madge; and Richard Melvin as the Centurion, who has worked with the theatre several seasons in fine portrayals.

Others in the cast are: Bill Raoul, Lentulus, a long standing member of the Highlands Community Theatre, having worked here for five years; Bob Duncan, Metellus, is the current Stage Manager for the Theatre; Bob Miller as Spintho, returns to the Highlands stage after his excellent portrayal of Hal in PICNIC; Jim Hines, Ferrovius, has been associated with the Highlands Theatre for four years; Jack Wilcox, the Menagerie Keeper, is a founding member and past president of the Highlands Community Theatre; Bucky Emerson, the call boy, has worked with the theatre two years; Clyde Bolt, Jr., the editor, is currently associated with the theatre as Business Manager and Production Manager; Ronald Harper, Retiarius, returns to the Highlands stage after his splendid performance as Turk in last seasons "Come Back, Little Sheba;" Bob Rankin as Secutor is making his debut with the Theatre.

Wayne Jones as Marcus Antonius, the Emperor, will be remembered as Alan Seymour in the first production of PICNIC. He is from Philadelphia and starred as the King in the Traveling Players of Germantown, Pennsylvania's production of "Rumpelstilskin."

Completing the cast will be the assorted Christians: Ella Cabe, James Crawford, Jr., Jane Bruce, Milton Platt, and Fontaine Flowers. Kevin FitzPatrick and Earl Young are portraying the Roman
