NEWS FROM THE STONE LANTERN

This year, for the first time, the Stone Lantern is featuring a few pices of antique and period furniture. The shop has one of the best collections of antique porcelains, lacguer ware, bronzes, and scrolls. Throughout the shop you will find lovely articles which bring the Orient right onto our own Main Street.

The tea garden, planned after the Japanese stlye, has had few additions since last summer, but we're sure that all the visitors will remember the cup of tea they shared there. The garden adds a charming note to the shop!

Miss Keiko Tomotsune will be in the shop this summer, wearing her native kimonas. She came to Highlands from Tokyo, Japan last September, and entered Western Carolina College as a freshman. She plans, after completing her education, to return to Japan to teach.

The Stone Lantern is open from 10a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and in the evenings until 10:30 July 4th through Labor Day.

SENIOR HIGH CONFERENCE AT MONTREAT

Mr. Frank Gaylord, Miss Kay Trowbridge and Miss Patty Trowbridge left Wednesday for Asheville Presbytery's annual Senior High Young People's Conference at Montreat, N. C. They were accompanied by their Pastor, Rev. Dan McCall, who is serving as one of the Bible study leaders of the Conference. Montreat, located approximately 13 miles east of Asheville, is one of the principle assembly grounds for the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.

HCH RECEIVES ENDOWMENT

Highlands Community Hospital has received a $2,750 endowment from The Duke Endowment, Charlotte, N. C. This endowment was given for assistance in the purchase and installation of new diagnostic X-ray equipment for the hospital.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP

The Macon County Veterans of Foreign Wars $500 scholarship was awarded to Miss Jessie Lynn Harbison, 1962 Highlands High School graduate.

This scholarship is made possible by the gift of Mr. Henry Cabe in memory of his sons who were casualties in World War II, and is given by the V. F. W. to a deserving student of Macon County.

Miss Harbison is now on the staff of the GALAX NEWS as assistant editor to her sister, Miss Tina Harbison. She expects to enter college at Western Carolina College in September.
