his column in the Sunday edition of the Journal:

"The Buster Birds must have an extraordinary amount of patience because I stayed a whole week with them at their home in Highlands and they were just as gracious the last day as they were the day I arrived.

It was the occasion of the annual Preaching Mission at the small but beautiful Methodist Church at Highlands.

"We only had services at night at which time Bishop Moore and I both preached. I preached the first sermon and the Bishop preached the closing one.

"I was the "lead-off" man. He is not expected to hit any home runs--just to get on base. It is the "clean-up" man, which Bishop Moore was, who hits the home runs, which he did.

"During the day we had our time free. George Woodruff (a friend of 52 years), arranged a golf match between Army Armstrong with me as his left-handed partner, and Buster Bird carrying the ball for the Woodruff team. We had fun.

"We caught a few brook trout, too.

"I found out the hard way that if you want to take home any fish when you're fishing for brook trout, you'd better have some red-wigglers and fish on the bottom. It may not be the "sporting" way--but it's sure--and we wanted to be sure. I got my limit and at breakfast the next morning, they tasted mighty good.

Now, about the preaching mission. We may have overdone it. Two sermons the same night! One man said after the first night, "My cup runneth over" and didn't come back, but all in all I think it did some good.

"Maybe more than we know--or will ever know. I've always believed and still believe if you get a good convenient place and start preaching and singing and do it the best you can, it will do somebody some good.

"I'll file this week away among my happy memories and leave the results to Him who keeps a "Book of Remembrance."

"TAMMY TELL ME TRUE"

Enchanting and perfect screen entertainment---with a nostalgic look at a way of life that used to be---is the pleasure-filled "Tammy Tell Me True," the warm and delightful romantic comedy which opens at the GALAX THEATRE Wednesday, July 25.

The title role is played by that remarkably-talented young star, the blonde and beautiful Sandra Dee, as lovable a hair-braided little gal as has ever been seen on both land and water. Sandra's co-star is the tall, dark, and very handsome John Gavin, who is rapidly emerging as one of Hollywood's foremost leading men.

"Tammy Tell Me True," a Ross Hunter production for Universal International, is that studio's sequel to their outstandingly successful "Tammy and the Bachelor," and the new picture, in color recreates on the screen the heart-warming Tammy characterization which captivated audiences all over the world.

As portrayed by the effervescent Miss Dee, Tammy is a shanty-boat-bred youngster woefully lacking in formal education, yet possessing more common sense than many a dedicated scholar. In her homespun approach to the complexities of modern life, she is determined to attend college, where she succeeds in resolving the dilemmas confronting the more so-called "civilized" gentry who cross her gentle path.

John Gavin is cast as a young college professor who befriends Sandra in the very trying period in which she has decided to concentrate on book learning. He ably shows his remarkable versatility in this portrayal, demonstrating a natural gift for comedy that opens a new facet to his impressive career.
