 in Rome and now call Atlanta home between musical engagements. He is also a highly skilled engineer.

After returning from their Roman honeymoon in 1959, the Harrowers appeared with the Lyric Opera Co. of Chicago. Since then they have concertized as duo-recitalists and soloists with symphony orchestras throughout the country. They recently sang the bass-baritone and soprano solo parts in the presentation of the Elijah at the Music Center.

Harrower was born in Atlanta, the son of a professional singer father and a mother who was a fine pianist and accompanist.
 He has recently appeared with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy, in Rome with the Orchestra of the Accademiadi Santa Cecilia and with the Cincinnati Opera.

Miss Callaway's life is a real Cinderella story. She was born and reared in the Ozark Mountains of Arkansas, the daughter of a general-store keeper. She went away to college, liked singing, decided to study it, won the Fulbright and was hailed by Mario Rinaldi, one of Italy's top opera critics, as "brilliant, enchanting and vivacious."

This will be the last Brevard-Highlands concert of the season. Tickets are $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children, and are available at Anne's Beauty Shop, Alice Inman's Sportswear Shop, Stone Lantern, The Ark Antique Shop, Highlands Inn, Hotel Edwards, The Condiment Shop, Highlands Gem and Mineral Shop, The Gem Shop, the Klip 'n Kurl, King's Inn, Lee's Inn and Motel, Wit's End, Highland Fling, The Eriar Patch, Carolina Mountain Shop (Cashiers), and at the door on the night of the concert.

NIX IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Sunday night, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Nix of Highlands were shaken up and bruised when their car went out of control at the "Big Cut" on the Walhalla Road. Although neither Mr. or Mrs. Nix was seriously injured, their car was badly damaged, amounting to about $200.

Mrs. Robert Lane of Camden, Ala. has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
 R. B. DuPree.

Mr. Nick Hodsdon, who has been at Fort Eustis, Va. for the past six weeks, is visiting his mother at their home here.
 Nick is a rising Senior at Tulane University in New Orleans.
