"FIVE WEEKS IN A BALLOON"
 "Five Weeks in a Balloon," the first book published by famed nineteenth century novelist Jules Verne, is exactly 100 years old this year. As part of an International Centennial Celebration, motion picture producer Irwin Allen has filmed "Five Weeks in a Balloon" for 20th Century-Fox, and the CinemaScope-DeLuxe Color production will appear Thursday and Friday, August 23 and 24 at the GALAX THEATRE.

"Five Weeks in a Balloon" is straightforward adventure-comedy, without the science fiction elements that so preoccupied Verne later in his career. It details the hilarious adventures of seven would-be explorers (five men, two women) who stage a madcap 4,000 mile balloon race across Africa. Suspense is built and maintained as the adventurers progress from Zanzibar to Hezak to Timbuktu in an effort to reach the Gold Coast and plant the British flag before the whole region falls into the hands of slave traders.

Starred in "Five Weeks in a Balloon" are Red Buttons, as a scatter-brained playboy; Sir Cedric Hardwicke, as a (slightly) mad inventor; Fabian, as the inventor's balladeering assistant; Barbara Eden, as a beautiful missionary school teacher; Peter Lorre, as an insidious slave trader; Richard Haydn, as a British high-brow; Barbara Luna, as the mischievous native girl; and a remarkable chimpanzee named Chester (as an equally remarkable chimp named "Duchess").
