RODGERS TO OPEN LECTURE SERIES

Dr. C. Leland Rodgers will open the lecture series at the Museum of Natural History, Thursday, July 8, 8:00 P. M., in Museum Building. His talk on life on the American deserts will be illustrated with kodachromes.

Dr. Rodgers is chairman of the biology department of Furman University. His research field is plant taxonomy. During the past four years Dr. Rodgers has participated in the gorge research program of the Highlands Biological Station. He has surveyed the plants of the Horsepasture and Bearcamp Creek gorge area and his work has been accepted for publication by two leading scientific journals.

The lecture is open to the public free of charge.

MARK IT ERROR, CALL IT OURS

We were in error when we stated in last week's GALAX NEWS that the Highlands Community Theatre opened its '65 season last Friday. The program held at the Theatre last Friday and Saturday was NOT sponsored by the Highlands Community Theatre. Mr. Fred Allen stated Tuesday that the HCT will open officially the second week in July. To all those confused (!) folks, please excuse our error. We're sorry. . .and possibly a little confused ourselves!

C OF C SPONSORS JULY 3RD PROGRAM

The Highlands Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a program of varied entertainment, which includes a melodrama and a hootenanny, featuring guitar and banjo music and "maybe a square dance team." The melodrama is of the "medicine show" or early 1920's type and will be done in the round. This program will feature the Royal Nonesuch Players.

The Royal Nonesuch is composed of Rob Jones, arch villain and schemer; Steve Bellew, a professional folk singer and actor; Satu Lundstedt, a Scandinavian import who has danced professionally in ballet companies here and abroad; and Parker Rushing, professional actor and director holding his MFA in Directing from Goodman Memorial Theatre in Chicago. The group was organized by Mr. Rushing (CON'D ON PAGE 15)
