FRANKLIN, N. C.

(BREVARD MUSIC CENTER, CON'T FROM PAGE 2) by John Richards McCrae, Director of the BMC Resident Opera Company. Starring in the production are Frank Little, baritone and Public Relations Director of the Center; Teresa Sturcken, soprano from Converse College, Spartanburg, S. C., and Clifford Billions, tenor artist-in-residence at the Center.

"The Fantasticks", the second dramatic production this season, is a "Parable about Love". An extremely popular musical and a "must" for young people, this show has enjoyed the longest run in the history of the theater, including seven years Off-Broadway. It is the story of two teen-agers who, in the process of growing up, learn that the world holds more problems than they (CON'T ON P. 20) to be tabbed as Auntie Mamie, that preposterous utterer of bon mots and high priestess of the ultra-drawing room set, makes a brilliant departure from that characterization in "The Trouble With Angels", which plays Sunday and Monday, July 24 and 25 at the GALAX THEATRE. She plays the Mother Superior of a convent school, a strict disciplinarian, sympathetically understanding of the high spirits and prankish behavior of some of her adolescent charges.

And Hayley Mills, who was that oh-so-good Pollyanna, co-stars in the new Columbia Pictures release as the most un-disciplined, prankish and troublesome of the school's student body.

The combination and the changes of pace are infectious indeed.

"The Trouble With Angels" is sheer, heart-warming delight.

Also starred in the film, are Binnie Barnes, Gypsy Rose Lee, Camilla Sparv, Mary Wickes and June Harding as Rachel.
Miss Harding, from Broadway and television, is a youngster delightfully cast as Hayley Mills' classmate and companion in trouble. She is Hayley's devout follower always ready for additional conflict with the Mother Superior, who always manages to outwit Hayley and June.
