"SITUATION HOPELESS--BUT NOT SERIOUS"

The sparkling, new comedy-satire, "Situation Hopeless--But Not Serious", which spoofs the post-war world in hilarious fashion, plays Friday, July 29, at the GALAX THEATRE.

Based on a best-selling novel by Robert Shaw, the screenplay pokes gentle fun at the little man in the big world and the recovery era in Germany. The scintillating feature also lowers the laugh boom on Hollywood filmmaking in Europe.

The story begins its satiric journey when a lonely German shopclerk and air raid warden, portrayed by Guinness, 'captures' American pilots Connors and Redford and holds them 'prisoners' in his cellar. They become his captives not because he harbors feelings of hate and Nazism, but because he needs someone with whom he can concern himself.

"Situation Hopeless" was filmed entirely in Germany, with interiors shot at Bavaria Studios. Kurt Hasse directed the cinematography, while Rolf Zehetbauer served as the Art Director.
