EPISCOPAL HOME TOUR TO VISIT RUSSELL, HARBART, TRINKLE, AND HOWE HOMES FRIDAY

The Episcopal Home Tour, for which reservations are essential, will visit the following homes this Friday: Mrs. Stacy Russell, overlooking Blue Valley; the John Harbarts on Little Yellow Mountain; the John Trinkles on the Bowery; and Mrs. James H. Howe in Horsecove, where tea will be served.

The tour group will leave the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation at 2:30 on Friday afternoon where transportation is provided. Those going on the tour MUST have advance reservations, obtainable by telephoning 526-2444 on Friday morning before noon.

DEATH TAKES MR. CARTER

Mr. Ainsley T. Carter, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and formerly of Highlands, died July 28th in a Cincinnati hospital after a long illness.

Before coming to Highlands, Mr. Carter, who was a graduate of Cornell University, spent some time working in Spain in his field of electrical engineering. After his retirement, Mr. Carter, with his wife, came to Highlands in 1952, where they resided until last year. He was very generous in giving of his time and talents

THE WHITESIDE CLIFFS

With the opening in 1950 of a motor road to the top of Whiteside Mountain (4,930 feet), another of America's great vastnesses was made accessible.

Generally recognized as the highest in Eastern America, the breath-taking cliffs of Whiteside have been long view-

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Ella Box Carter; one sister of California; a nephew of California; and a niece of Cincinnati.

Funeral services were held Monday morning in Cincinnati.

FUND DRIVE CONTINUES

The 1967 Fund Drive for the Highlands-Cashiers Hospital is well underway, and much appreciation is extended to the people who have already contributed. The goal this year is $60,000; pledges and donations in the amount of $8,000 have already been secured.

The recent expansion of the hospital to a 27-bed one, also capable of taking care of long-term patients, necessitates the need for funds to sufficiently cover the operating expenses of the hospital.

Those who plan to make donations to the fund drive are urged to do so now, so that the drive can be concluded.

ed with awe by natives and visitors alike. Even to lifelong mountaineers, sheer 2,000-foot precipices are an unending source of wonder.

From the top, one can view one of the most amazing panoramas of mountains, lakes, waterfalls, plains, forests, and highways to be seen anywhere. Hiking will lead to every vantage point along the three-quarter mile crest to romantic reaches that have been the basis of much fascinating legend.
