

Hand Carved Lanterns

Stone Lanterns from early times have been used by the Japanese as best fitted and consistent with love of elegance and faithfulness to nature for the practical purpose of lighting a garden, boat-landing, or a path over the hillside. The names of stone lanterns have their derivatives from various temples and shrines. However, as time advanced, the idea of decoration encroached upon that of utility and many sizes and designs evolved depending upon interior and exterior usage.

KASUGA LANTERN (round)
 36" high: $395.00
 60" high: $550.00

