BREVARD MUSIC CENTER

The Brevard Music Center, the South's oldest summer festival of music, has announced its program of attractions for its 32nd season during the months of July and August.

The famed Brevard Music Festival which includes weekend performances from July 5th through August 18th will again feature the greatest names in music. The Sunday afternoon series includes Metropolitan singers Richard Tucker, Eleanor Steber, Blanche Thebom, violinist Carroll Glenn, and pianists Lee Luvisi and Grant Johannesen, and baritone William Warfield. The final Sunday concert will be a gala performance of the Ninth Symphony by Beethoven.

The Opera Workshop of the Music Center, now in its fourth year, will produce The Barber of Seville, and The Telephone and The Medium, Carousel by Rodgers and Hammerstein, Spoon River Anthology, Samson and Dalila, and Fledermaus by Strauss. General Director of the Workshop is John Richards McCrae of Converse College.

The popular series of Pops Concerts on alternate Saturday evenings will feature the soloists, chorus, and orchestras of the Center in a panorama of American musical comedy, with music by such favorites as George Gershwin, Rodgers and Hammerstein, Lerner and Loewe, and many others.
