ANOTHER SEASON CLOSES; 17TH YEAR OF PUBLICATION ENDS

It's hard to realize that another season is ending as we bring to a close the Galax News's 17th year of publication. Many of our summer friends have already gone; many will soon be leaving, and Highlands will again settle down for a restful winter.

We would like to thank all those many people who have helped to make our newspaper successful - our advertisers, readers, "newsgivers", and interested friends.

All three of us will soon be returning to school. Dotty will be entering Western Carolina University; Susan is a rising junior at Highlands High School; I will be a freshman at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. We've made many new friends this summer, and look forward to serving you next year. We also wish each of you a happy and prosperous year.

HIGHLANDS SCHOOL OPENS TOMORROW

School bells will ring once again tomorrow morning after a long, silent vacation. Bells will ring about 8:20 for a day of registration. The dismissal bell will ring at 11:00 a.m. Lunch will not be served. High School students will use this day for scheduling.

In addition to the regular faculty, three members of the National Teachers Corps will assist in the elementary classes. (CONTINUED ON PAGE EIGHTEEN)
