MONKEY TALK

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree, Discussing things as they ought to be;
Said one to the others, "Now, listen,
you two,
There's a certain rumor that can't be true
That man descended from our noble race;
The very idea is a disgrace!

No monkey ever deserted his wife,
Starved her babies and ruined her life;
And you've never known a mother monk
To leave her babies with others to bunk,
Or pass them on from one to another Till they scarcely know who is their mother.

And another thing, you will never see A monk build a fence round a coconut tree,
And let the coconuts go to waste Forbidding all other monks a taste.
Why, if I'd put a fence around a tree, Starvation would force you to steal from me!

Here's another thing a monk won't do:
Go out a night and get in a stew;
Or use a gun, a club or knife
To take some other monkey's life!
Yes, man DESCENDED, the ornery cuss,
But, brother, he didn't descend from us!

"IS YOUTH THE HAPPIEST TIME OF LIFE?"

I know of no greater fallacy, or one more widely believed, than the statement that youth is the happiest time of life. As we advance in years we really grow happier, if we live intelligently. The universe is spectacular, and it is a free show. Increase of difficulties and responsibilities strengthens and enriches the mind and adds to the variety of life. To live abundantly is like climbing a mountain or a tower.

To say that youth is happier than maturity is like saying that the view from the bottom of the tower is better than the view at the top.
