"TORA! TORA! TORA!"

Now it can all be told. The giant story of two nation's monumental conflict. Twentieth Century-Fox presents TORA! TORA! TORA! The incredible attack on Pearl Harbor as told from both the United States and Japanese sides. TORA! TORA! TORA! The motion picture Newsweek called, "as dazzling a calvacade as has ever been put on screen," and ABC-TV raved "one of the most impressive pictures ever seen." TORA! TORA! TORA! How was a mighty Japanese task force able to race four-thousand miles across the Pacific undetected? Why was the office of the President of the United States considered a security risk? How did U-S intelligence know of the attack before the Japanese ambassador. All the incredible answers are in TORA! TORA! TORA! The most spectacular motion picture ever made. TORA! TORA! TORA!, rated G will be at the Galax Theatre Fri-Sat, August 20-21.

FOREST SERVICE MAKES CHANGES

Regional Forester T.A. Schlapfer announced the appointment of Vaughn Hofeldt as Supervisor of the Chattahoochee-Oconee National Forests in Georgia, succeeding Darold Westerberg who is transferring to Washington.

Schlapfer also announced that James Sabin, Supervisor of the Ozark-St. Francis National Forests in Arkansas, will move to Atlanta as Chief of the Division of Lands and Minerals in the Forest Service's Southern Region Office.

Westerberg is being promoted to a new position in the Division of Timber Management in the Washington Office. He has been Forest Supervisor in Georgia since 1967.

Schapfer said Hofeldt is exceptionally well qualified to supervise the two National Forests in Georgia. He said the Chattahoochee gets extremely heavy recreation use from the metropolitan Atlanta area and added that much of Hofeldt's background has been in the field of Recreation.

Hofeldt has been serving as Assist. Chief of the Division of Recreation in the Atlanta office. He is a native of Oregon, a graduate of Oregon State University and a veteran of World War Two.

Sabin received his degree in Forestry at Syracuse University and began work for the Forest Service in California. He also has worked in the South and East and was Deputy Supervisor of the Ouachita National Forest in Arkansas before becoming Supervisor of the Ozark St. Francis three years ago. In Atlanta, Sabin succeeds Hans Raum who has been named Chief of the Division of Operation in the Regional Office.
