Dr. Stevenson, Yale Graduate, to Be Guest Speaker April 22-4

Religious Emphasis Theme: "Students' Need for Religion"

Morning Watches Held

This year's Religious Emphasis Week will be held April 22-24, with the Reverend Dwight E. Stevenson, Minister of Bethany Memorial Church, Bethany, West Virginia, as the main speaker.

The theme for this year is "College Students' Need for Religion." It will be remembered that the theme last year was "Life's Foundation." There is a very close connection between the two themes, and the opinion is that each student should benefit highly from the week of religious experiences.

The Reverend Stevenson, a graduate of Yale University, is Instructor of Philosophy at Bethany College and is also Director of Student Religious Activities and for six years has served as Minister of the Bethany Church.

Morning Watch
For several weeks the Y. W. C. A. has been sponsoring morning watch in a pre-religious emphasis period. At the beginning the attendance was small, but with good programs and inspirational meditations, the attendance swelled.

To Talk In Chapel

On Tuesday, April 22, the Reverend Stevenson will speak during the morning chapel period and also conduct the evening vesper services at 7:00.

The following day Dr. Howard W. Odum of the University of North Carolina will speak from the platform of the Howard Chapel.

Personal interviews will be held during the week and the evening vesper services will be under the direction of the Rev. Stevenson.

TRIPS

Glee Club to Tour Eastern Churches

This spring the College Glee Club is expecting a busy season. As usual, the Glee Club began making trips at the first sign of warm weather. Already they have visited Waltonsburg, Farmville, Vanceboro, Kinston, Belhaven, and Red Oak.

It is the custom of the "songsters" to travel over the eastern part of the state during the spring of the year, giving programs in the different churches. Every Sunday the college bus is seen out on the highways, dutifully (Continued on page four)

Sigma Tau Chi Places

Juniors Sponsor Stunts

By I. ROSE

About all I know is what I learn while "snooping around." But it doesn't take "snooping around" to learn a few things when Stunt Night comes around. Some people's ability to act just "pops" out.

Of course, every one knew that Sigma Tau Chi's stunt would be among the leading ones, since they have such outstanding actresses as Johnny Green and Virginia Lancaster; but who would have thought they would walk away with "top honors?" Agnes Best, impersonating a squirrel, must have caught the judges' eye.

Boy, oh boy! Did "Peewee" put on an act with his "T model" Ford or not? Frankly, folks, I think he did, and I'm certain the judges thought so, too. At least his cranking, Burney's noise, and all the tires going flat, won second prize for the "A" Club.

Sometimes I wonder if the orig-

A Club Holds Spring Banquet

The Briggs Hotel became a scene of laughter and gaiety on April 5th as the members of the "A" Club met to hold its first annual banquet.

"Peewee" Holmes, president of the club acted as toastmaster. Many of the ball players and Coach Herring were called upon to make short speeches on this year's sports activities.

Mr. Holmes introduced Mr. W. P. D. Sharpe, a local lawyer, who was guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Sharpe delivered a very short speech, but one which was well illustrated with a lively spark of life, aided by well-timed jokes.

In the center of the tables, which were shaped like a horse shoe, stood an "A" which was made of white carnations. In front of the "A" burned a large white candle.

After the dinner a dance for the members and guests followed.

Faculty members who acted as chaperones for the evening's entertainment were: Coach Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Jarman.

Sigma Tau didn't have an especial appeal to the judges and thus win for that sorority third place.

Maybe Hamby and Brite will make two more Shakespeares or Paul Greens after all.

Phi Kappa Alpha's act certainly should have been in the limelight. The love scene between Tilly (F. H. Jarman) and Hardy (Elmer Mottern) could not have been better had it happened (with a few changes) in true life. May-be they've been "snooping around" too. Well, that's a pretty good thing to do. Just don't get your "snozzle" caught in somebody else's business.

Sometimes I wonder if it wasn't a pretty good idea of the Y. W. C. A. to present a fictitious house meeting. Now outsiders know a little of the "inside dope;" that is, how the girls behave at such meetings.

Stoney Defeated by Popular Vote

Closely contested Spring Elections brought to light the interest the students have in the Publications, as they elected Kirby Watson, editor of the Collegiate; Ruth Beard, editor of the Pine Knot; George Woodall, business manager of the Collegiate; and Charles Eagles, business manager of the Pine Knot.

Mr. Watson won by defeating Virginia Lancaster and Joe Holliday on the first balloting. "Kirby," as the campus knows him, is a sophomore and for the past year has been Sports Editor of the Collegiate. He is outstanding both in campus and local Wilsonian lights.

Miss Beard was elected in one of the closest contested of races over Miss Elizabeth Stoney of Winston-Salem. Miss Beard is very much interested in the field of journalism at present holding positions on the Collegiate and Pine Knot staff and being college reporter for the Wilson Daily Times. The Y. W. C. A. is another of her important extracurricular activities.

Mr. Woodall was elected by defeating Earl Harrison in the second run-off, Preston Parsons having been eliminated earlier in the campaign. Mr. Woodall is active in the Y. M. C. A. He is chemistry lab. instructor and has held several important positions in his fraternity.

Mr. Eagles was elected business manager of the Pine Knot by eliminating "Bill" Gray from the race. Mr. Eagles is a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity, being secretary this year. He is a member of the Quaker's Club, the Y. M. C. A., the band, and will be a courtier for May Day this year.

Isabelle Williams Writes and Directs Pageant

The YW and YM met jointly on Monday night, March 31, in the Howard Chapel to observe the pageant "Came the Dawn," presented by the Sigma Tau Chi sorority. The pageant was written and directed by Isabelle Williams, a senior of the sorority. The pageant truly stirred the Easter spirit and emotions in all who were present.

Those taking part were: Angels—Virginia Lancaster and Lina Edwards; Women—Lillian Guthrie, Minnie Dees, and Carthene Hoell; Guards—Eleanor Blow and Dolly White; Peter—Frances Nelson; Disciples—Agnes Best, Sarah Fulghum, Marguerite Lane, Ann Wainwright, Carrie Davis May; Poet—"Johnny" Green; Reader—Isabelle Williams; Electrician—Betty Miller. Music was sung by Sally Lucas, Claudia Lucas, Howard James, and Charlie Harrison. Mary Colones accompanied at the organ.

This pageant brought the biggest crowd of the year to a meeting of this type.

It is hoped that this program will stimulate the other Greek letter groups to take a more active

Former Sports Editor, (Yavorski) Edwards, Spurs Group On

Great news for the paper this month is the story of the Collegiate's first annual editorial staff banquet, held at the Golden Weed Grill on April 6, at 6:30 o'clock. William "Bill" Gray, outstanding member of the staff, acting as master of ceremonies, began by asking each person to tell what he had learned by working on the staff. Such answers as these were given: "I've learned you can't always publish what you want to publish." "I've learned I'm no journalist." "I've found out that 'Gentlemen Aren't Slaves.'" "Learning who Spectator Sid is has been my aim the whole year; now I know."

James Cressy, retiring editor of the Collegiate, welcomed the staff, urging those present to work harder another year and make it a bigger, better paper than ever before.

Guest speaker for the occasion was a former A. C. C. student, well known to the entire staff, John Edwards. Mr. Edwards worked on the Collegiate as sports editor his four years at A. C. C. He also worked on the Pine (Continued on page four)

Social Committee

Campus Carnival Colors Saturday Night Party

The social committee climaxed its Saturday night entertainments with a carnival in the gym Saturday, March 29.

The gym was arranged to resemble a county carnival with side-shows and bough tables. Students had their fortunes told by Madame Yehoudi and were surprised to find that she really told all.

Earle Williams called customers to the Rogue's Gallery and showed them photos of the campus rogues—all for one penny.

Miss Colones was elected chairman of concerts over Jack Martin. She is a member of the Junior class, and until this semester has been a bus student. Her short stay on the campus has already revealed her capabilities.

Miss Denning defeated Margaret "Maggie" Glover to win the position as chairman of May Day. Madeline is well known to the students for her musical talent; she is the youngest member of the Rotary Club, chief postmistress, manager of the "Y" store, treasurer of the Y. W. C. A., and represents the Junior class on the Woman's Dormitory Council.

Miss Daniels was chosen chief marshal over Elizabeth Ann Nall. Miss Daniels is a town student, active in campus activities, serving at present on the Women's Dormitory Council. She is at present biology lab instructor and vice-president of the present Junior class.

Wharton, House President

Next year the boys dormitory council will be headed by James Webster, president; Thurman "Webb" Harper, vice-president; and Expie (Dutch) Miller, secretary-treasurer, according to results of the spring election which was held under the supervision of the retiring president, Lester Edwards.

Ola Mae Kelly has been elected president of the Women's Dormitory council, and under her are Frances Hemby, vice-president; Eloise Taylor, secretary; Cassie Mae Cowell, treasurer; Ida Earle Pierce, president of YW; and Myra Wharton, house president.

Men's Dormitory Primary
Kendrick Taylor lost out of the presidential election and James Webster was named to succeed Lester Edwards as president. Webster has been prominent on the local campus, president of the Junior class, member of the Y. M. C. A., and was recently a candidate for president of the Cooperative Association.

"Webb" Harper came through to take the position of vice-president by upsetting the popular candidate, Charley Harrison. "Webb" is a member of the Collegiate staff, Phi Delta Gamma fraternity, Y. M. C. A. and for a while was a candidate for the baseball squad.

"Dutch" Miller, an outstanding member of the freshman class and second baseman of the Bulldog baseball squad, outclassed Lyman Gray, Bulldog freshman pitcher, for the post of secretary-treasurer.

Campus Prepares for Reign of May

Spring is here again! With this new season most of our minds turn toward baseball and May Day. Our attention is divided between the front campus and the ball park. At least, this is true of Lillian Guthrie, chairman of May Day, and her assistant workers.

On the first Saturday in May, traditionally, the queen of the forest sits with her "chosen" king, on the throne, while her children, the fairies, come out and perform before her. They dance, they romp, and they frolic all for the enjoyment of the queen. They all rejoice together for the new spring, new growth of flowers and trees, and the bright sunshine which means a new year is growing on.

The queen of all this beauty on May 3, 1941, will be Miss Janey Fitzgerald, Pine Level, North Carolina. The king will be Mr. Winton Odham, Grifton, North Carolina.

The personal attendants of the queen are Carthene Hoell, Vanceboro, North Carolina, and Minnie Dees, Fremont, North Carolina.

The personal attendants of the king are Frank Wiley, Grantsboro, N. C., and John K. Wooten, Grifton, N. C.

The other members of the court are: Madeline Denning and Burney McCotter, Eloise Taylor and Charles Eagles, Rachel Glover and Foy Goforth, Frances Nelson and Frank Jones, Katherine (Continued on page four)

Morris to Represent Town Students

Gordon Aldridge was elected president of the Cooperative Government Association in the general elections. Other officers of the government for another year are Miss Wilma Williams—vice president; Miss Jewett Davis—secretary; Mr. Howard Blake—treasurer; and Miss Naomi Morris—town representative of the association.

Mr. Aldridge is a member of Sigma Alpha fraternity. He was chosen by eliminating Wilma Williams, James Webster, and George Woodall from the race. He is, at present, treasurer of the Cooperative Association. During his sophomore year he was secretary of the Men's Dormitory Council.

Miss Williams was elected vice president by defeating James Webster, George Woodall having withdrawn his nomination on an earlier date. She is the present secretary of the Cooperative Association. To the girls who work in the lounge and Dean's office she is "hoas," being supervisor of the offices. She is active in the glee club, the Y. W. C. A. and the dramatic club.

Miss Davis is a transfer student from Pinebluff College in Raleigh. She has recently been initiated into the Phi Sigma Tau. Soon after her arrival on the campus, she made acquaintances which have proved lasting, a characteristic of a "swell" person.

Mr. Blake is a member of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is outstanding in the Y. M. C. A. and is present treasurer of the sophomore class.

Miss Morris is a member of the Delta Sigma sorority. She is president of the present sophomore class, is outstanding in athletic fields, and is co-chairman of the social committee.

Jr. Sr. Banquet

AC Juniors Feed Seniors In Annual Banquet

R. C. Deal, E. C. T. C., Speaks

The annual Junior-Senior banquet of Atlantic Christian College was held Friday evening, February 28, in the Carolina Room of the Christian Church. James Webster, president of the Junior class, acted as toastmaster. The guest speaker of the evening was Mr. R. C. Deal, professor of French, Eastern Carolina Teacher's College.

Candles flickering on the tables were the sole lights. Lovely cut flowers were arranged on the table and pine cones and boughs covered the mantel. On the stage was a scenic background of pine woods in which there was a tall, white, lighted candle with a streaming white ribbon and the words "Jr.-Sr. Banquet, '41."

Mr. Webster first introduced "one of the most talkative fellow classmates"—Charles Eagles, who gave the address of welcome. Elmer Mottern, president of the senior class, made the response.

toast to the sophomores by Wilma Williams. Miss Williams' witty remarks were matched by a response made by Miss Naomi Morris, president of the sophomore class.

The toastmaster then called on Norma Clay Daniels who gave a toast to the freshmen. Response was made by Earle Williams, taking the place of Jimmy Paschall, president of the freshman class, who could not attend because of illness.

After this Miss Jewett Davis gave a toast to the Alma Mater, the response to which was made by Dr. H. S. Milley.

Mr. Webster then introduced one who can always be depended upon to provoke laughter—Miss "Johnnie" Greene. Miss Greene gave an original reading in which she told of the peculiarities of dormitory life at A. C. C.

After the speeches the juniors and guests left for the Breeze Inn.
