Courses Added To Evening Curriculum

The Curriculum Committee of ACC, headed by Dr. Perry Case, has announced the addition of several new courses in connection with the curriculum of the institution's Evening College.

The new courses are "Development of Skills in Radio Speech and Announcing," "The Church in Its Community," "English Novel," and "The Community School."

Dr. D. Ray Lindley has appointed Joel E. Lawhon of Wilson, program director of radio station WVOT in Wilson, as instructor in the radio course.

Dr. Case pointed out, "The course was added because of the shortage of personnel for announcing in the radio stations of North Carolina and the increasing need for the individual making radio speeches to have some background in radio."

Lawhon is vice-president of the Wilson Radio Company, owners of radio station WVOT. He came to Wilson in 1948 to help organize the station. Before that time he was head of the continuity Department of radio station WPTF in Raleigh. He attended Furman University where he graduated in 1942 with the A. B. degree in English and speech.

The other three courses, "The Church in Its Community," "English Novel," and "The Community School," will be offered on Saturday in order that they may be taken by persons now in full time Christian service, teaching, or in other professions in which interest in the courses is high.

"The Community School" will be taught by Mr. L. L. Murray, head of the Department of Education at ACC.

The course, "The Church in Its Community," will be similar to the school course in that it will have its "approach to the church not merely as a religious institution but in its broader community setting," Dr. Laurence C. Smith, acting head of the Department of Religion and Philosophy at ACC, explained.

The course in "English Novel" will deal with the major novelists of the eighteenth and nineteenth century and will be taught by Mrs. Virginia House of the Department of English at ACC.

Additional Steam Table Speeds Up Dining Hall Service At ACC

With a new steam-table installed, the students of ACC are now able to eat in almost half the time it took with the former operation of only one steam-table.

The new table was installed during the Christmas holidays at an initial cost of about $700, according to Mr. Milton Adams, business manager of the school. Mr. Adams also pointed out that a hole had been cut in the wall between the kitchen and dining room for tray returning by the students. This new arrangement enables two people to do the work that formerly employed four helpers.

With the initiation of the new serving equipment, Mrs. Hoffman, cafeteria director, had also initiated a new serving schedule. Breakfast is now served from 7:

15 until 7:45 during the week and from 7:30 to 8 on Sunday. From 12 to 12:30 dinner is served during the week and from 12:30 until 1 on Sunday. During the week supper is served from 5:30 to 6 with no Sunday night serving.

It has been pointed out that a student may have a class until 12:30 and may eat in time for a 1 o'clock class, thanks to the dual-line system.

Mrs. Wilson Says 'One Of The Worst'

Regarding the several campus cases of flu, Mrs. Wilson says it is one of the worst periods in her fifteen years here. The worst epidemic was during the war when there were twenty-five sick, and at that time there was no infirmary. She had to run from place to place to see and keep check on the patients.

There is one particular case Mrs. Wilson tells about. It has been her worst case in her stay here. There was a girl who fell and broke her pelvic bone. Instead of doing as she was told, she did quite the opposite, which delayed her recovery. Let this be a lesson to everyone.

Among the sick are or have been: Ruth Lockamy, Edna Hedgpeth, Perene Vail, Mary Helen Godwin, Shirley Whitley, Lois Moore, Peggy Martin, Carol Lee, Bill Chesnut, Robert Moore, Howard Ham, Betty Knight, Richard Zigar, and Callie Proctor are or have been in the hospital. Dr. Long was out of school a while with the mumps too.

So hurry and get well and keep well. Spring will soon be here!

Historian Talks To Visiting Ministers

"The leading historian of Disciples of Christ history" was the main speaker at the Annual Ministers Week program held on the ACC campus February 10-12.

Speaking on the lecture series established in honor of George F. Cuthrell, of Dunn, was Dr. Winfred E. Garrison, Professor of Church Histories at the University of Houston and former head of the department of Church Histories at the University of Chicago Divinity School.

Other speakers included Ross Allen, secretary of the North Carolina Christian Churches; Mrs. E. K. Beckett of Wilmington, president of the Ministers Wives Association, and Mrs. T. S. Newbold of Durham, executive secretary of the North Carolina Council of Church Women.

Rev. R. Paul Parker of Hookerton, is secretary-treasurer of the Ministers Association, and the other officers of the Ministers Wives besides Mrs. Beckett, are Mrs. Altha Duncan of Charlotte, vice-president, and Mrs. Margaret James of Elizabeth City, secretary-treasurer.

ONE-ACT PLAYS

Stage And Script Ignores Curse Of Friday The 13th

The Stage and Script Club finds no ill omen in the fact that half of the student directors for their program of one-act plays failed to return to the college campus this semester. Asserting that superstitions about such stuff as Friday the 13th come only from ignorance and lack of confidence, the members of the ACC dramatic club appear confident that the three one-act plays to be presented in Howard Chapel Friday night at eight o'clock are going to be a great success and highly entertaining.

Mrs. Doris Campbell Holsworth, dramatics coach, has taken over the direction of Eugene O'Neill's "Where the Cross is Made." Preparation of the play was begun last semester by Dick Bene, who has transferred to Wake Forest College.

Sailor's Story

In the cast of the "Where the Cross is Made" are some seasoned actors who have been seen in plays here at college and also some newcomers to the campus stage. Paul Crouch, who played Michael Barnes, the editor of the college "Yellow Jacket," is playing Nat Bartlett, a young writer who has been forced by his father to be a sailor.

Ruby Wiggins, who appeared as the farmer's wife in "The Yellow

Fraternities Get Mid-Year Group

Fraternities began the new semester with their annual mid-year initiations on February 7. Although the initiation was limited to one day, pledges seemed agreed that the one day was filled with plenty of work.

Phi Delta Gamma welcomed into their brotherhood Lemuel Harris, Jr. Clinton S. Small, Noah B. Hill, Jr., and James D. McPhail.

Sigma Alpha pledged Don Stanley, Rodney Smith, George Willoughby, James Lee, Stacey Honeycutt, Bill Chesnut, Arnold Stanton, Sam Moss, J. B. McLawhon, Carl Parrish and Jack Denning. The pledges worked all day in the yard and house, afterward having the ritual and a banquet.

Phi Kappa Alpha extended the hand of brotherhood to James Hemby, Bruce Strickland, Gus Wooler, John O'Connell, Benjamin Bernier, Kelly Byrum and Billy Weathersby. New officers elected are Craven Sumerall, president; Billy Draughn, vice-president; Allen Ross, treasurer; Felix Labaki, secretary; Fitzhugh Thompson sergeant-at-arms; and Jack Woodward, reporter.

News Briefs

C., Hall Representatives.

Roy L. Coggins, of Sanford, was graduated from jet pilot training in ceremonies in December and commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force.

Lt. Coggins, 22, attended Atlantic Christian College, for three years. While in college he played basketball and worked on the yearbook staff. He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Fraternity.

Boykin, Flowers Get New Duties

Mrs. Edna L. Boykin of Wilson, has been named a full time instructor in English and languages. Mrs. John Flowers of Wilson, has been named instructor in science in ACC's growing Evening College.

Mrs. Boykin has served previously as an instructor in the night school and in summer school. She comes to ACC after having taught languages at Charles L. Coon High School in Wilson since 1947.

She is a graduate of Atlantic Christian and is currently working for her graduate degree in secondary education and English.

Mrs. Flowers wife of John M. Flowers, ACC professor of Chemistry, is a native of Selma. She graduated from W.C.U.N.C. with a degree in chemistry and biology and previously taught at William and Mary.

Connie Jordan has been elected by the Executive Board to fill the post of senior representative on the Social Committee. She succeeds Betsy Miller, January graduate.

VALENTINE DANCE

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY (or rather NIGHT) will be observed on the ACC campus with a dance sponsored by the Sigma Tau Chi sorority.

Jo Anne Moore, dance chairman, is finishing up plans for the eight-till-twelve affair in the dining hall Saturday night.

Stag 50 cents. Drag 75 cents.
