ELECTIONS COMING UP

ACC, Daily Times To Play Co-Hosts To Press Meeting

The Eastern North Carolina Press Association will hold its spring meeting in Wilson, on Friday and Saturday, May 10, and 11. Plans for the event were announced after the board of directors of the association had held a planning meeting at the Hotel Cherry in Wilson.

Co-hosts for the spring meeting were Atlantic Christian College and the Wilson Daily Times, it was announced by Ashley B. Futrell, Washington, president of the association.

The meeting will open on Friday night, May 10, with a banquet at the Hotel Cherry and will close on Saturday with a luncheon on the Atlantic Christian College campus.

All business sessions of the meeting will be held in the new classroom building here at the college, it was announced.

Mrs. Elizabeth G. Swindell, Publisher of the Wilson Daily Times and James E. Fulghum, Director of Special Activities at Atlantic Christian, were named program chairmen of the meeting.

Members of the board of directors who attended the planning meeting March 8 other than Futrell were William C. Manning, Jr., Williamston, and David J. Whichard, III, Greenville, vice-president; Mayon Parker, Ahoskie, secretary and treasurer, and Cletus Brock of Mount Olive, past president of the association.

Ft. Worth Honors Dr. M. E. Sadler, Alumnus Of ACC

(From The "Alumni News") A former student of Atlantic Christian College was honored by his community recently as its outstanding citizen.

Fort Worth, Texas, conferred the honor on Dr. M. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian University. Dr. Sadler was presented the honor as Fort Worth's outstanding citizen of 1956, by the Fort Worth Exchange Club.

A native North Carolinian, Dr. Sadler has become one of the nation's outstanding educators. He has served for 16 years as president of Texas Christian University.

Dr. Sadler served as president of the Association of American Colleges in 1952. He formerly was a member of the commission on higher education and the committee on standards and reports of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

He was president of the International Convention of Disciples of Christ in 1944 and 1945.

At the founding conference in Cleveland of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., Dr. Sadler was named vice-president, a post he held in 1951 and 1952.

He was the first president of the Texas State Council of Churches when it was organized in 1953.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews, of which Dr. Sadler has served as a national director, honored him with a personal citation in 1952.

The nation, Atlantic Christian College through the Wilson City-County Health Center is providing free polio vaccine to all students under 21 who present a permit signed by parent or guardian.

The vaccine will be given at the college infirmary during the week

Pine Knot Is Almost Completed

The "Pine Knot," the campus yearbook, is almost completed. Ed Ward recently announced that most of the proof is already at the printers. Ed has been working all year as "Pine Knot" editor and expects to complete his job in another week or two.

Ed, who is from Williamston, graduated in January but has remained on campus in order to get the yearbook completed. In addition to his duties as editor of the "Pine Knot," Ed has also been very active in the Science Club and Phi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. He served as both president and vice-president of the Science Club and was tapped by the Golden Knot Honor Society.

He gained experience for his present job by serving as photography editor last year.

All copy except the sports section was sent to the printers on February 16. The sports section was sent in immediately after the North State Conference tourney. Tentative date for the "Pine Knot" to come out is May 17.

Other students on the staff this year have been: Johnny Browning, associate editor; Peggy Mitchell, art editor; Dusty Rhodes, Charles Hutchins, Claude Anthony, Wilma Hairr, Louise Duncan, Julia Banks, Carolyn Miles, and Alice Godwin.

People In The News

Mrs. Hugh Johnston was co-ordinator of the fashion show recently sponsored by the Junior Women's Club. The show was a fundraising project for Atlantic Christian College.

Mrs. Janet T. Boles was listed in the News and Observer March 10, as one of the best dressed women in North Carolina. Mrs. Boles was the only woman listed from Wilson.

Nancy Brown, senior from Colrain, recently received as a gift a spanking new Ford. The motor hasn't stopped running since.

Ed Ward recently won a two year full scholarship in the U.S. Army. A shy, reticent person, Ed has done very little bragging about this accomplishment. Ed is a member of Phi Kappa Alpha.

Congratulations are in order to Mr. and Mrs. Lee J. Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Adams. Both of these families recently welcomed new male additions to their households.

Business Firms Interview Seniors

ACC's spring graduates should have no problems finding employment after completing their college work on June 2.

Many national and area concerns have already interviewed the seniors and many more firms plan to do so in the near future.

Among the concerns who have sent representatives to the campus recently are Swift and Company, Burlington Mills, General Electric, General Motors, Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co., Wa-

Blackwood, Willis, Aallsbrook Nominated

Three outstanding juniors have been nominated by the executive board for the office of president of the Student Co-operative Association for next year. Sylvia Aallsbrook, Tommy Willis, and David Blackwood are the ones the students will be choosing from in the near elections.

To be eligible for this office a student must have a 1.5 quality point average and be a member of the junior class. In addition to those named by the executive board any qualified student may be nominated by petition.

Sylvia Aallsbrook has been secretary of the Co-operative Association for the past two years. She has also been active in many social activities on the campus. Hailing from Scotland Neck, she is also an ardent fan of ACC's basketball and tennis teams. She is a member of the Golden Knot Honor Society and is past, present, and future president of the Billy Widgeon Fan Club. This charming young lady should get the ACC male vote of approval at least.

Otway, N.C., a well-known resort on the coast is the home of Tommy Willis. That is the reason it is well known. Tommy is a member of Sigma Rho Phi fraternity and is currently serving as student director of intramurals. He is also an active participant in the intramural program as well as the director. A thesaurian of some note also, he was last seen in the one act play, "Ile," by Eugene O'Neill.

David Blackwood, erstwhile Scotchman, is a member of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity and is a religion major. He is a past president of the Student Christian Association and has been very active in religious, social, and academic circles on campus. He received the Water's Cup last June for contributing the most to ACC's religious life. Dave is from Raleigh, (Not Dix Hill) and also a member of the Golden Knot Honor Society.

Voting for the office of president will take place in the near future. Election of other officers will follow soon after.

Marine Officer To Be On Campus

Captain Charles B. Redman, U. S. Marine Corps procurement officer will be on our campus

March 25 - 26. Captain Redman, whose headquarters is in Raleigh will interview

Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors for acceptance in the Marine Corps "PIC" program. Seniors are eligible to enroll in the officer candidate program.

Both of these programs will enable one to earn a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps and will in no way interfere with college studies.

New Books

The ink, now being ten minutes dry from the last list of "New Books," we are again beset with moans and groans from the enterprising "Collegiates" to whom up another. Which is, of course, another way of telling you the offerings will be scanty this time.

Our outstanding additions to the library collection in the past week (or is it three days) have been the first two volumes of Winston Churchill's History of the English Speaking People and Erick Barnes' Biography of Edward Sheldon The Man Who Lived Twice. This is not the Sheldon of In His Steps but rather the story of a man who played an important part in the development of American drama. Additional items of note: Gifted

Plays Offer Varied Entertainment

An appreciative audience enjoyed the bill of one-act plays presented by Stage and Script on the nights of March 6 and 7. The themes of the plays ranged from psychological tragedy to farce and provided varied entertainment, as well as varied tests of dramatic talent.

The first play, Ile by Eugene O'Neill, struck the note of tense tragedy as an inner drama of loneliness and madness unfolded. Joe Hardegree and Betty Jean Parks showed genuine subtlety of interpretation and remarkable dramatic force as they played the roles of the sea captain and his suffering wife. Aply reinforcing them were Tommy Willis as the first-mate and Bob Whitely as the spokesman for the rebellious sailors. Effective in minor roles were Tony Baker, Kenneth Roberts, and Bill Boswell. The smooth pace and intelligent direction were a triumph for Director Ted Hubert, student-assistant in the work of the drama group on campus.

The second play, Quare Medicine, was chosen to honor its author, Paul Green, native North Carolinian. Giving an outstanding performance as the "medicine man" was Sandy Peele. Sam Bundy, Jr., Wilma Hairr, and Becky Skinner interpreted with humor and understanding the folk-characters, and Douglas Hunter made an entertaining debut on the college-stage as a tobacco-chewing dirt-farmer. This play was capably directed by Delton Glover, president of Stage and Script.

The most unusual feature of the evening's program was the very old Japanese comedy, chosen by Stage and Script to celebrate International Theater Month. This light, highly stylized farce, entitled Abstraction, was played with grace and charm by Ralph Messick in the leading role. His "furious" wife, Mary Alice Howard, and his coniving friend, Roney Bunn, added humor and pictorial appeal in their colorful Japanese garb. The song sung by Ralph Messick was composed for the occasion by Mr. Cobb; and Kaoru Nonaka provided authentic costumes and some coaching on pronunciation of Japanese names. Claude Anthony directed this play in a sensitive manner which caught the light, poetic charm of Oriental comedy.

Two of these plays, Ile and Abstraction, will be presented again in Goldsboro at the end of March for the Eastern Carolina Regional Drama Festival. The plays were under the general supervision of Mrs. Holsworth.
