NUMBER FOUR

Fall Play Opens In Chapel Tonight

Atlantic Christian College's Stage and Script Club will present its Fall Play, "The Lady's Not For Burning," by Christopher Fry, in Howard Chapel tonight and tomorrow night at 8:15 p. m.

This play is one of the most difficult to present that has ever been offered by the Stage and Script Club. At the same time it is one of the most entertaining plays to see and to interpret in the modern theatre. The very carefully chosen cast is taking great care to bring out the significance and beauty of the lives of the characters.

The story concerns a young man who has recently returned from the war, full of high ideals and ambition, only to find the people of his country bound by petty customs and prejudices, by greed and stupidity. He reacts so violently that he wishes to leave the world but does not wish to take his own life; therefore, he tries to convince the authorities that he has committed crimes for which he should be hanged.

Another strong character enters in the person of an attractive young woman who has a mind of her own and who wishes to live in her own way, but who is accused of being a witch because she has her pet peacock dining with her in the house. The local authorities are quick to condemn her to be burned, since she violates their sense of what is right and proper and also incidentally because she is an unprotected female with considerable property which they covet. Into the lives of these two there comes the transforming power of love which redeems and affects all when it touches: the young clerk who saves an innocent convent girl from an unsuitable marriage, the mother who opens her jewel box unselfishly, the old judge who can wink at an escape, and the two principals, Thomas and Jennet. The latter parts are played by Ellen Dennis who has been active in Stage and Script throughout her college career, playing such varied parts as the old nurse in "Medea,"

Eliza in "Pygmalion" and Joan in "The Lark" and Clay Phillips, a newcomer to Wilson audiences who comes to us after taking an active part in dramatics at Campbell College.

Another newcomer who has added greatly to the excellence of the cast and to our dramatic activity is Kay Johnson who comes from Meredith and is playing the part of the mother, Margaret. Her sons, Humphrey and Nicholas, are played by Jimmy Mitchell, a transfer from North Carolina State and Jay Prillaman who has joined Stage and Script for the first time this year. Richard, the clerk, is played by Sanford Peele who is also Stage Manager for the play and who was active in our plays all through last year. Betty Jean Parks of Goldsboro shows her acting ability in the role of Alizen, a shy young girl, after having interpreted such roles as Mrs. Higgins in "Pygmalion" and the insane wife in "He," Delton Glover who was president of Stage and Script for last year and active in the plays for several years, is now portraying the cantankerous mayor with a pompous judge, Tappercoom. S. D. Bundy, Jr. of Farmville completes the cast with a really laughable impersonation of the chaplain.

The committees are working hard to make the production a success; the members of the publicity committee are Billie Ann Creech, Claude Anthony, Sanford Peele, Karen Lackowitch and Gayle Cameron. James Moskos is in charge of tickets and is house manager. Doris Jenkins is chairman of costumes; Mary Alice Howard is chairman of makeup; Anne Nelson is chairman of properties and Norman Watson is chairman of scenery. Littlejohn Faulkner is in charge of lighting and Sanford Peele is stage manager.

Choral Members Leave Friday

Leaving tomorrow morning for Charleston, South Carolina, to present a musical program at the South Carolina Convention of Christian Churches are 10 Atlantic Christian Chorus members, Mr. James Cobb, director, and Mrs. Cobb. The Convention will be held at the Rhett Avenue Christian Church in Charleston.

Students making the trip are as follows: Frankie Herring, Gail Joyner, Carolyn Miles, Martha Raye Dawson, Louise Wells, Beverly Edwards, Rex Cooper, Ken Brinson, Bob Collins and John Harrell.

The annual chorus tour which was scheduled for Wilmington and Charleston was called off because of wide-spread flu. It was deemed wise by the college officials, because of the sickness, to carry only a small number to the Convention.

Famed Don Cossack Chorus Will Appear On ACC Campus Wednesday, December 4

A world-famous group of singers and dancers will provide in December the College Assembly and Concert Committee's most outstanding evening program of recent years.

In Howard Chapel on Wednesday night, December 4, General Playoff's Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers will stage a performance beginning at eight o'clock.

Dr. Vere Rogers, chairman of the committee, points out that the concert will be free to all students who have paid their student activity fee. Yet he emphasized the fact that there will undoubtedly be a strong demand from the general public for admission, since the Don Cossacks are one of the most popular entertainment attractions throughout the world. In order to give the public an opportunity to use any seats not occupied by students a special system has been devised for determining how many students will actually wish to use their privilege of attending.

Students may receive their tickets by presenting their activity cards at the information desk in the lobby of the classroom building before November 18. Tickets are not transferable.

Faculty members may purchase a ticket during the same period for $1.00.

Married students and faculty may purchase a ticket for their husbands or wives at a special price of $1.00 before November 18.

On November 18 tickets will go on sale to the general public.

If a student receiving a ticket can not go, he should return it to Mr. Benjamin Bardin in the Business Department by December 2.

The Chorus has traveled on a total of one hundred seven different ocean liners and visited sixty-five different countries. The Eiffel Tower, Parliament Buildings in London, Pyramids of Egypt, tea plantations of Ceylon, wild beasts of South Africa, elephants of India, ice-paddies of Indo-China, earthquakes of Chili, skyscrapers of New York, the holy places of Jerusalem, bananas of Singapore and Java, tidy streets of towns of Holland, the Tunnel of St. Gothard in Switzerland, the minarets of Turkey, the caves of Madeira, the thrills of the Hawaii Islands, a revolution in Brazil — are all common sights to these nomadic singers.

Flu Patients Given Good Care

By TOMMY WILLIS

Flu and more flu — yes, that about sums up the situation as it has been here on our campus. It has been a most unfortunate situation, but our college administration is to be commended on the fine way in which it handled the problem.

It is true that the conditions were not ideal. However, I believe that the patients received as good care as could be expected in the emergency situation. When, I as a patient, listened to some of the other patients griping, it made me want to tell them to grow up. To hear college students sit and condemn the fine care they were receiving made me wonder if these people were really ready to leave home and take all the risks in life.

I am glad to say that this group of whom I write were in a minority. The majority of the students were nearly perfect patients. I guess I could quote one of the nurses, "You can really find out what a person is like when he becomes ill." This, I suppose, about sums up the situation.

Before I close I would, on behalf of the patients who found no cause to gripe, like to thank the people who had any small part in the aid and services given. Miss Sarah Bain Ward and our faithful nurse and friend, "Ma" Wilson, were especially wonderful in their undying help. To all these fine people we say "thanks" and offer our apologies for those who caused unnecessary problems.

Harvest Dance Slated Saturday

At eight o'clock Saturday night, Sigma Tau Chi will present its annual Harvest Dance. The event will take place in the Bert Hardy Dining Hall on the campus of Atlantic Christian College. Music for this very informal affair will be provided by the latest records.

Charles Hughes will act as Master of Ceremonies at the half time which will bring on soft drinks and homemade cookies and candies. The entertainment for the half time will be provided by Dick Tyson's sister, Ruth Ann, and Nancy Jo Whitehead's sister, Libby. These two girls will do a baton twirling act, and a tap dance.

Admission for the Harvest Dance will be 75 cents a couple and 50 cents stag.

Students Urged To Pick Up Cards

Atlantic Christian College students have been urged to pick up their 1957-1958 Atlantic Christian College Athletic Association admission cards.

The cards may be picked up from the telephone operator at the switchboard in the administration building. It will be necessary to have an admission card in order to get into basketball games played at the college. They are also used as admission at many other events held on the campus.
