Collegiate To Go Weekly Next Fall

Editor-Elect To Be Speaker

The Collegiate, Atlantic Christian College's campus newspaper, will probably become a weekly publication during the next academic year, it was announced today.

Officials of the Publications Committee of the college said today that the committee has been working with the Executive Board of the ACC Cooperative Association for the last two meetings working out preliminary plans for such a move.

Until this year The Collegiate had generally operated on a monthly basis. This year The Collegiate changed its schedule so that it was printed twice monthly.

The Publications Committee, in a letter to the Executive Board on May 5, said 1. If there is a shortcoming in cooperative government on the campus of Atlantic Christian College, this shortcoming is in inadequate communications of the issues at hand between the government and its constituency—students and faculty.

2. The growth of the student body has helped to increase this lack of communications. No longer can the word spread by voice.

3. The campus newspaper, The Collegiate, must serve as the voice for better communications on the campus.

4. The Collegiate, on a twice monthly schedule, cannot answer this need for improved communications.

5. To meet this need and to provide students in a body of our size with the best communications available, the Publications Committee would like to see The Collegiate become a weekly newspaper next fall.

The present Executive Board expressed approval of the weekly plan and voted permission for the Publications Committee to begin the necessary preliminary planning.

Next Fall a concrete plan and

Seniors Present Gift To College

Arthur Bishop, president of the Atlantic Christian College Senior Class, this week presented a check for $391 to Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, ACC president, in Howard Chapel.

The check will be used to pay for a trophy case for the college to be erected in the new Classroom Building.

Architects originally drew specifications for the trophy case but it was not installed at the time the building was constructed.

Dr. Wenger praised the senior class for presenting the funds needed to install the case.

Saturday classes will have their examinations on May 17. This will not cancel their class meetings on May 24.

All evening classes will have their examinations at the regular class meeting time during examination week.

Examinations for classes which do not fit into the above schedule will be arranged by the instructor.

Students who have four examinations on one day may select one examination to be given at a time mutually convenient for the instructor and the student.

One hundred and nine Atlantic Christian College seniors will be awarded Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees at the college's 56th Annual Commencement on Sunday, May 25, at 7 p.m.

The graduation program, to be held outside on the college's center campus, will climax a day filled with commencement activities. The graduation speaker will be Dr. Howard E. Short of Lexington, Ky., Editor-Elect of "The Christian-Evangelist," national weekly church news magazine of the Christian Church.

Three eastern North Carolina leaders in the fields of education, religion and business will be awarded honorary degrees at the graduation, religion and business will be awarded honorary degrees at the graduation program. They are Dr. C. H. Hamlin of Wilson, retired member of the ACC faculty; Rev. M. Elmore Turner, minister of the Broad Street Christian Church, New Bern, and Lawrence A. Moye of Maury, manufacturer, farmer and merchant.

The day-long program will open at 9 a.m. on Sunday morning, May 25, with the college's annual Baccalaureate Service at the First Christian Church here. The Baccalaureate speaker will be Dr. R. Frederick West, Minister of the Hilyer Memorial Christian Church in Raleigh.

Following the Baccalaureate Service, the college will have a picnic luncheon on the campus at noon. This will be followed by a meeting of the college Board of Trustees at 2 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge in the new classroom building.

At 4 p.m. graduating seniors and their parents will be honored at a reception in the lobby of the classroom building.

The graduation program will follow the reception at 7 p.m. The graduation speaker, Dr. Short, will close a 12-year career as Professor

Annual Dance Exhibitions Scheduled Saturday Night

The third annual exhibitions of rhythms and dance will be presented by students of Atlantic Christian College Saturday night at 8 p.m.

The exhibitions will be presented in the college gymnasium to take care of the large crowd that annually witnesses the event.

More than 220 students taking dancing at the college, will take part in the annual program which was started three years ago. Exhibitions will include the foxtrot, waltz, swing, tango, rumba, The Charleston, and Cha Cha, both in special costumes, and parts of several folk dances, including the square dance.

Students from all classes in dance at the college taught by Gene Barnes, member of the ACC faculty in the Department of Physical Education, will participate in the program.

Last year, a capacity crowd was

Freshman Dance Slated Friday

Tomorrow night, from 8 until 11 p.m., the freshman class is staging its Sadie Hawkins Dance in the cafeteria, and all students and friends of Atlantic Christian College are invited to attend.

This occasion offers an opportunity to the girls, for they have the freedom to turn the tables and invite dates for the evening. Since this is one of the few times when the boys can sit back and wait for a date, girls are urged to get busy and line up their favorite fellows for a dance guaranteed to be "super-plus."

Junior Class To Fete Seniors

The Junior Class of Atlantic Christian College will be hosts at a luncheon to be held Saturday at 11 o'clock at the Cherry Hotel. The luncheon will honor the graduating Seniors.

This will be the first time such a luncheon has been attempted at the college. In the past this annual affair has been in the form of a Junior - Senior Dance. The main complaint of the past Junior-Senior Dances has been the light attendance. The luncheon replaces the annual dance in hopes of more participation.

The prospects this year for a larger attendance at this annual affair are again dim, for the list of reservations shows that less than sixty students have responded to the invitations sent by the Junior class.

The deadline for answering these invitations was last Tuesday.

Band To Present Campus Concert

The Atlantic Christian College Band, under the direction of Darrell Harbaum, ACC band director, will present a special spring concert on the campus Sunday afternoon.

Set for the center campus at 3 p.m., the band concert is open to the public. Seats for spectators will be provided, it was announced today.

It will be the final program of the year for the band.

Award Presentations Highlight Assemblies

The awarding of the Kiwanis Cup to Dick Knox, Atlantic Christian College freshman from Indianapolis, Ind., as the most outstanding intercollegiate athlete on the ACC campus, today climaxed more than two weeks of awards days at the college.

Knox, a member of both the basketball and track teams at the college, was presented the award by a representative of the Wilson Kiwanis club in Howard Chapel this morning.

Tuesday, Miss Anna Lovelace of Wilson, was presented the Rotary Cup at Blue and White Day. Miss Lovelace received the cup for having the highest academic average at the college for this academic year. At the same program Jay Prillaman was presented the Denny Essay Cup.

At an earlier awards day, Miss Peggy Mitchell of Jackson Heights, N. Y., was awarded the Wilson Daily Times Publications Award as the outstanding member of the publications staff at the college. The award was presented to Miss Mitchell by Mrs. Elizabeth G. Swindell, Publisher of the Daily Times. Miss Mitchell has served this year as Editor of the Pine Knot.

At the first awards day held, Miss Libby Griffin of Wilson, a senior, was named the top women's intramural athlete on the campus, and Wesley Doles of Elm City, won the award as the top men's intramural athlete. Dick Tyson of Elm City, won the award as manager of the year for intramural teams. Miss Ellen Dennis was previously awarded the highest award in dramatics at ACC, a special gift. Miss Dennis is a graduating senior from Greensboro. Sanford Peele of Wilson, was presented a top award in dramatics also.

W. B. Edwards, Jr., was presented the Science Award for recording the highest scholastic record in the field of physics.

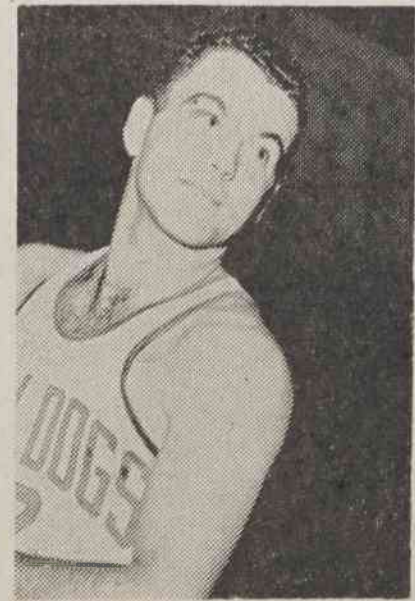

Three special gifts have been presented at the various awards days held on the campus.

A gift was presented to Dr. R. B. Cutlip, ACC Dean, by the Pan-Hellenic Council for his contributions to the Greek letter organizations on the campus.

Lee J. Howard was presented a gift by the Publications Committee for his contributions as faculty advisor to The Collegiate.

Gordon E. Coker, member of the faculty in the Department of Physical Education, was presented a gift for his contributions to the success of the intramural athletic program on the campus.

Tuesday was Blue and White day at ACC, the time when old and new officers of the Cooperative Association are honored. It was held in Howard Chapel and was highlighted by addresses made by David Blackwood, the retiring president of the association, and George Griswold, the newly elected president.

AWARD WINNERS—The three ACC students above won top awards at awards days held on the campus. Miss Anna Lovelace, left, was presented the Rotary Cup in Howard Chapel Tuesday morning for having the highest academic average on the campus for this academic year. Peggy Mitchell, center, was presented The Wilson Daily Times Publication Award, for "outstanding contributions to the campus publications." Dick Knox, right, was presented the Kiwanis Cup this morning in chapel as the outstanding intercollegiate athlete on the campus.
