Frat Studies Nationals

Phi Delta Gamma Fraternity has started official planning for nationalization with a national social fraternity.

The fraternity that Phi Delta Gamma will join, as yet, has not been selected but concrete talks with several are now being held, it was disclosed today by John Anthony, President of the local frat.

Anthony said it will probably be next Fall before the fraternity actually joins a national since it will take months to complete all the required work.

Norman Ritchie, Assistant Executive Director of Alpha Tau Omega, National Social Fraternity, visited with members of Phi Delta Gamma this week and spoke at the frat's meeting on Monday night.

Alpha Tau Omega is discussing the requirements for chapter membership in its organization and Mr. Ritchie outlined the various requirements at the meeting.

Boswell Elected Frosh Leader

The largest Freshman Class in ACC history, balloting 224 strong, last Tuesday elected a slate of officers to guide them through their class activities for their first academic year. James Boswell, a native of Wilson, was elected to serve as President during 1958-1959, and Hubert Westbrook, a native of Raleigh, was chosen Vice President. Winners for the positions of Secretary and Treasurer will be decided by the freshmen at a special runoff election to be held October 21. Those candidates who received most votes for the position of Secretary were Margaret Walker and Ann Russell, of Raleigh, N. C., and Moncks - Corner, S. C., respectively. The run-off for the Treasurer's job will be between Elizabeth Bell and Jo Ann Ellis, both of Wilson.

Boswell received the nod from 115 of his classmates, while David Mustian of Raleigh and James Silverthorne of Washington who were also vying for the President's gavel split the remaining vote — Mustian, 83, and Silverthorne, 26. Westbrook, in winning the position of Vice President, accounted for 129 votes; other contestants, Catherine Pappas and Jennett Winborne — both of Wilson — received 46 and 37 votes. In the Secretary's race, Margaret Walker and Ann Russell polled a close 72 and 69 votes; two other contestants, Catherine Pappas and Jennett Winborne — both of Wilson — received 46 and 37 votes.

Three contestants for the office of Treasurer split the vote as follows: Elizabeth Bell, 89; Jo Ann Ellis, 85; and Marie Barnes, 49.

Each of the candidates for the position of President was ably assisted in his campaign by a manager whose duty it was to present a resume of the candidate's qualifications and activities in school, church, and community during the last few years and then to present the candidate himself. The managers included Miss Frances Evett of Wilson for Boswell, Miss Janet Blackwood of Raleigh for Mustian, and Miss Shirlee Gaskins of Washington for James Silverthorne. Each of the Presidential candidates then pledged his support of the class and the school and stated

All-Student Plan Favored By Some

By BOB COLLINS

The Collegiate, following up a rumor that the campus family had renewed its walkside discussion of the merits of pure student government balanced against the system now in operation on the ACC campus, this week conducted a survey to test the reaction of a cross section of the student body and faculty.

The reaction was mixed. Some of those contacted expressed great interest in seeing a pure form of student government on this campus. Others reacted in a cool manner, and others were openly opposed to changing the form of government. The unusual fact about the survey was that of the people contacted, more of the faculty members expressed favor than did students.

Dr. Daniel M. McFarland, chairman of the Social Science Department, was approached regarding this matter. Dr. McFarland said, "I am in favor of a student government system, in which students elect their own officers, handle their own discipline, and manage student activity funds. I think this is a wonderful opportunity for training in citizenship, and would build student morale and school loyalty."

Echoing this feeling, Dr. Mildred E. Hartsock, Chairman of the Department of English, said, "I would like to see, on this campus, an experiment in pure student government. I have been proud of our distinctive type of co-operative government in which students and faculty had for many years a productive and harmonious relationship. For several years, however, I have sensed a marked loss of interest in our government. I might, for in-

Co-Op Association Budget Will Be Submitted Oct. 28

The Executive Board of the Atlantic Christian College Co-operative Association passed a proposed budget which will be presented to the students for approval in the general meeting of the Co-operative Association Tuesday, October 28.

At Monday's Executive Board meeting, the budget drawn up by the budget committee, headed by Treasurer Bobby Riley, presented its proposed budget.

The budgets to be allocated to the various organizations, dependent on the student activity fee, are as follows: to the Pine Knot — $5,465.47; to the Collegiate — $2,310.00; to the Concert Committee — $1,825.00; to the Dramatics Club — $1,145.00; to the social committee — $1,200.56; to the CCA — $970.00.

At the completion of the last school year there was a surplus of funds in the accounts of many organizations. This year's student activity fee would not meet the requested budgets of these organizations. It was decided that the deficits would be made up from last year's surplus and the remaining surplus will be put into the Co-operative Association Emergency Fund. The Emergency Fund may be drawn upon, subject to the approval of the Executive Board, if an organization should run over its budget in expenditures. This year's funds for the Executive Committee and the Bohunk will come from the Emergency Fund.

The Stage and Script Club requested $450.00 to rewire the stage and the switchboard in the chapel. It was suggested that it submit another request to the Executive Board which will be forwarded to the Administrative Council.

In further action it was announced that Junior Ralph Messick will be unable to serve on the Concert and Assembly Committee. Miss Emily Waters was selected to fill the vacancy.

Last Day For Annual Pics

Officials of The Pine Knot, the Atlantic Christian College Yearbook, were expressing concern today that so few students have had their portraits made this week for the 1959 edition of the annual.

Miss Patt Murray, Pine Knot editor, said the photographer had indicated to her that many students missed appointments this week when they were scheduled to have their photographs made.

Raines and Cox, Wilson Photographers, are making the portraits and have been set up in Harper Hall all week.

"Obviously many students have failed to see the schedule on the bulletin boards," Miss Murray said today.

The Pine Knot editor said, in an effort to get as many portraits as possible for the class sections of the annual, that the photographers will take all students today who have not already been for an appointment.

All students who have not had their portraits made are urged to report to the parlor of Harper Hall as quickly as possible. Today is the final day of shooting for the class portraits, it was pointed out.

"We of the staff are hoping to make this year's book truly representative," Miss Murray said. "If students fail to have their pictures made they will probably regret it for years to come. It will take fine cooperation today to get the job done. I hope students will take advantage of this opportunity and will report immediately."

Chapel, Class Attendance Is Student Responsibility

"One mark of an educated man is his willingness to assume responsibility." These were the words of Dr. Millard P. Burt, ACC Dean, this week as he discussed assembly and chapel attendance.

Dr. Burt said programs in Howard Chapel are for students and students, not the college, should determine the attendance at such programs. "Attending assembly and chapel programs is a student responsibility and should not be regulated by tight rules," Dr. Burt said.

He said the present program of assembly and chapel attendance was worked out with the best interest of the student in mind under the existing circumstances.

The program is much more lenient than last year's, except for members of the senior class, it was explained.

"It is our feeling that these programs should be for the benefit of all students and if seniors are to be allowed to stay away from the programs they are missing part of the educational experience," Dr. Burt said. This is why senior attendance was incorporated into the present program.

Dr. Burt, in discussing the present program, said that it allows much more latitude than in previous years. "It is true," Dr. Burt said, "that we no longer have cuts for chapel and assembly. However, we are requiring much less attendance this year than in the past."

The ACC Dean went further to say that he hopes programs in assembly and chapel will continue to improve to the point at which students will desire to attend them at all times.

He also pointed to the important position the classes have assumed in the new program. "Very little emphasis has been placed on classes in the past even though this will prove to be the association that will mean most to students after leaving college," Dr. Burt said. He said under the new plan of having class meetings each month,

Asst. Dean Of Women Named

The appointment of a new Assistant Dean of Women for Atlantic Christian College was announced today by Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, ACC President.

Dr. Wenger announced that Miss Jessie W. Daniel has been named to that position and will assume her duties on the college campus on October 15.

Miss Daniel is the former owner and manager of Daniel Roofing Company of Wilson.

A native of Wilson, Miss Daniel was graduated from ACC with the Class of 1940 and received an A.B. degree.

In her new position she will live in Harper Hall and will have her office in the Bohunk. She is replacing Miss Louise Morris, the former Assistant Dean of Women, who resigned to continue her education.

Miss Daniel was an active leader on the ACC campus while a student here. She was a member of Delta Sigma Sorority, active in the Women's Athletic Association and several other organizations.

A member of the First Baptist Church of Wilson, Miss Daniel has been an active civic leader in Wilson.

In discussing Miss Daniel's appointment today, Miss Sarah Bain Ward, Dean of Women at ACC, said: "We are happy to have Miss Daniel on our staff. She was very active when she was a student here and I am sure that students will enjoy their associations with her."

"I have always been interested in young people, Miss Daniel said today as she discussed her appointment. "I am looking forward to returning to the college as a member of the staff."
