Rush Week Will Begin Monday

By JIM BISHOP
Collegiate Editor

Fraternity and sorority rushing for 1958 officially kicks off Monday at Atlantic Christian College. Next Monday most of the freshmen and new transfer students, both men and women, will spruce up with their best Ivy League attire and set out to look over the social side of campus life.

Comments on fraternities and their rush programs came from all over the campus on the eve of this year's festivities. Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, ACC President said, "The administration looks to fraternities with the confident hope that they will provide a high standard of scholarship and leadership, not only for their respective chapters, but also for the entire student body of the college."

Dr. Millard P. Burt, Dean of the College, had this to say: "If you should become a member of a social fraternity or sorority which undertakes to influence its members to measure up to the highest standards of the College, you will not only profit individually, but also you will have found an ideal small group through which you can make a maximum contribution to the larger community — your College."

The Interfraternity Council inaugurated a new set of rushing, pledging and initiation rules to apply during rushing activities. It is requested that everyone read these rules carefully so as to prevent any misunderstandings.

Rush week shall take place during the week of October 20, 1958. Rushing shall consist of round robin meetings.

From Monday morning until Wednesday at 5:00 p.m. quiet days will be observed. This means that each fraternity and sorority member is pledged on his honor not to discuss with potential pledges any matter which might influence their decision concerning pledging.

Uniform bids will be furnished by Interfraternity Council for all organizations. Organizational colors (straight ribbons) will be pinned to these bids to be worn after returning bids to Student Life Office.

At 1:00 on Saturday, October 25, each sorority president or delegated representative will bring to the Office of the Dean of Students a list of their prospective pledges and their bids ready to be placed in the local college post office on Monday morning. At 3:00 on Friday, October 24th, each fraternity president or his delegated representative will bring to the Office of the Dean of Students a list of their prospective pledges and their bids. The Dean of Women or the Dean of Men and the Director of Student Activities will go over each list with the sorority and fraternity presidents in an effort to avoid any unpleasant complications. It is requested that each fraternity and sorority empower their delegate to act for their group in case of any necessary adjustments.

Acceptance shall be made according to instructions on the bids. For the balance of the fall semester, from the time of pledging until the end of the semester, each fraternity and sorority shall carry out a pledge training program which shall require a minimum of six weekly pledge training sessions

Open Letter

IFC Head Gives Rushing Advice

(Sammy White, President of the Interfraternity Council at Atlantic Christian College, has released the following open letter to fraternity and sorority rushees. White said he wrote the letter on behalf of the entire I. F. C.)

"Monday most of you will embark upon another new experience at Atlantic Christian. Rush Week will certainly be a busy and perhaps even hectic week for you, but it can also be enjoyable and profitable.

"Fraternity and sorority life is an invaluable experience in group association. The man or woman working his or her way through school has the same opportunity for development, for attainment and for holding office as the student who gets a fat check each month from home.

"A fraternity or sorority looks at you, or should look at you, for yourself. So introduce yourself always; a false front is easy to spot. "Remember, also, that in order to be eligible to pledge a fraternity or sorority when rush is over, you must abide by all I. F. C. rushing regulations. All rushees should visit each group he is eligible to join.

"Don't feel badly about leaving a house that you like. The fraternity and sorority members know the rushing regulations and will understand that it is right for you to visit other groups.

"When you do visit a group, however, make it your business to be sure you talk to all the members. If you are only allowed talk to a few — friends from home, big names on campus, and chapter officers — be suspicious. You want to know everyone.

"Please feel free to balk at high pressure. I don't think this will happen here but you should feel free to make up your mind in your own way.

"Above all, though, choose the fraternity or sorority with the kind of men or women you like; choose a group that is ambitious and energetic enough to take part in all phases of campus life. Choose a friendly group and I believe that

Infirmary Visits Are Suspended

By BOBBY SWINSON

Visiting in the college infirmary was suspended this week after it was reported that several infractions of the visiting rules had taken place.

John E. Weems, Director of Student Activities, issued the statement after Mrs. Mary Wilson, Resident Nurse at the infirmary, reported infractions of the rules.

Visiting hours at the infirmary had been practiced daily from 4 p.m. until 5 p.m.; however, according to Mr. Weems, "Several students have been violating the visiting hour rules. They have been going to the infirmary to visit friends at other hours."

"Visiting of any kind in the future will be considered a breach of rules and will be dealt with accordingly," Mr. Weems said.

Athletic Cards Are Available

Milton L. Adams, ACC Athletic Director, announced today that the student athletic cards are now available.

Mr. Adams said students may obtain the cards by visiting the telephone switchboard in the Administration Building.

He urges students to pick them up as quickly as possible.

Board Says

Parking Problem Not Serious

By BOB COLLINS

The parking problem on the Atlantic Christian College campus has been studied by a special committee appointed by the Executive Board.

The committee, composed of Steve Ginn, Chairman; Dean of Men, John H. Rich; Lynn Grice; and Barbara Butler, brought its report to the Executive Board meeting Monday. It was reported that parking is allowed in the area behind the science building, the area where the old science building was, and in the area behind the boiler room.

This space will not facilitate the parking of all cars of students. In discussion, Dr. Daniel M. McFarland pointed out that there is plenty of space to park along West Vance Street, only one block from the classroom building. Dean of Women, Miss Sarah Bain Ward, spoke of the space along Whitehead Avenue just beyond Gold Street. Both of these areas are closer to the classroom building than the space adjoining the campus along Deans Street it was pointed out. The committee urged students to use these available spaces. Dr. McFarland also pointed out that if this parking space was used the problem would not be as serious as some would like to believe.

In further action on the traffic problem, the possibility of a caution light or a stop light at the corner of Lee and Whitehead was discussed. The Executive Board voted to send a recommendation to the Administrative Council asking the City of Wilson traffic department to investigate this possibility.

The special committee pointed out that parking behind the Harper Hall Annex is only by permission. It too urged students to use the space formerly occupied by the old science building.

The Executive Board voted to give $30.00 from the Executive Fund to provide transportation for delegates to the National Educational Association convention in Kinston.

Upon a motion by Mr. John E. Weems, the Executive Board voted to pay for repair of the TV set in the Bohunk.

Dr. Millard P. Burt, Dean of the College, spoke briefly at the meeting. He urged the Executive Board to be as effective as possible in their functions. He stressed the importance of helping to keep the students informed and interested in student government affairs.

George Griswold, President, presided at the meeting.

Council Procedure Aired

In an effort to improve communications on the campus, Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, ACC President, today outlined the proper procedure for a group, faculty member or organization to make a request for action by the Administrative Council.

The Administrative Council is made up of heads of the five administrative divisions on the campus and Dr. Wenger. The other members are Dr. Millard P. Burt, Dean, head of the academic division; James D. Daniell, Director of Alumni Affairs, head of the alumni division; James E. Fulghum, Director of Publicity and Special Activities, head of the publicity and special activities division, and John E. Weems, Director of Student Life division.

Committees operating under these divisions should make requests to the division heads to be passed on to the Administrative Council, the ACC president explained. Student committees working under the Executive Board should forward requests to the Administrative Council through the Executive Board.

Faculty members will make requests to the Administrative Council through their department heads with the request forwarded on to the Dean and then to the council.

Dr. Wenger said he was explaining the procedure because several persons on the campus had misinterpreted lack of action on certain matters. "It is one thing to see one of the administrative council members walking on the campus and mentioning a matter to be acted on and quite another to make the proper request to the council," Dr. Wenger said. "In all cases," Dr. Wenger said, "requests that are presented to the council in the right manner will be studied promptly and a reply will be forthcoming."

Dr. Wenger said the council meets at least once a week and that all requests can be studied in a short while.

"I believe this will serve to help groups, committees and faculty members prepare requests for the council if they understand the correct procedure," Dr. Wenger said.

Leaders Attend Church Meeting

Three Atlantic Christian College officials left the ACC campus Wednesday enroute to the International Convention of Christian Churches in St. Louis, Mo.

The convention opened in St. Louis today with Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, ACC President; Dr. Millard P. Burt, ACC Dean; and Rev. Allan R. Sharp, Acting Chairman of the Department of Religion and Philosophy, attended.

Prior to the convention, the three ACC officials attended a meeting of the Board of Higher Education of the Christian Churches.

An Atlantic Christian College luncheon will be held on the final day of the convention, October 22, at the Mark Twain Hotel in St. Louis.

The three ACC officials will leave St. Louis, the night of October 22, to return to Wilson. Dr. Burt, however, will stop at Brevard College, Brevard, N. C., to represent ACC and Dr. Wenger at the inauguration of Brevard's new president.

Names Muddle Chapel Records

The office of the Dean today made a suggestion to students that will help them to report chapel attendance properly.

Dr. Millard P. Burt's office made the following recommendation: "When posting chapel attendance on the records in our office, it is difficult quite often to identify properly the student. It is requested that all students sign their registration name on the chapel slip in a legible form. There should be only one name on each chapel program."

Faculty, Students Attend NCEA Convention Today

Several Atlantic Christian College faculty members and 42 ACC students are in Kinston today attending the Eastern District Convention of the North Carolina Education Association.

Headquarters for the convention is at the Grainger High School in Kinston. In the gymnasium of the school ACC opened a display booth early this morning for the benefit of its alumni and the hundreds of other public school teachers attending the convention. Manning the booth were James E. Fulghum, Director of Special Activities at the college, and John E. Weems, Director of Student Activities.

Robert Hollar and Miss Ann Bullock, members of the ACC faculty, played top convention roles. They are both officers in the higher education division of the district.

Hugh B. Johnston, Jr., member of the ACC faculty, is one of the top leaders in the Modern Foreign Language division.

Dr. Daniel M. McFarland, Chairman of the Department of Social Science at ACC, will be the principal speaker this afternoon for a meeting of the Social Studies division of the district.

Dr. G. A. Constantine, Chairman of the Department of Education and Psychology at the college, escorted the student delegation of future teachers attending the convention today. It was one of the largest groups of ACC students ever to attend an education convention.

Public school teachers from schools in the following counties were present at today's convention: Beaufort, Carteret, Craven, Duplin, Greene, Jones, Lenoir, Onslow, Pamlico, Wayne and Wilson.

Locker, Box Plan Is Initiated

Many organizations, faculty groups, and administrative personnel at the college continuously find it difficult to contact students.

"It is almost impossible to get in touch with day students unless they are in class," Dr. Millard P. Burt, ACC Dean, explained today as he prepared to announce a plan that will ease the problem.

Dr. Burt's suggestion is that each campus student obtain a post office box at the campus post office immediately if he does not already have one.

For day students, Dr. Burt suggests that they obtain lockers in the classroom building. "Several students could get a locker together," Dr. Burt said.

He said his office would then compile a list for distribution of all post office boxes and all lockers.

Faculty members, administrative personnel, or campus groups could then send notes to the students by having them placed either in the post office boxes or in the lockers in the classroom building.

"I believe a plan of this kind would improve our communications tremendously," Dr. Burt said.

"We have many notifications that should get to students in a hurry. If they do not have classes at the time we are attempting to contact them, it is sometimes hours before we are able to deliver the messages," Dr. Burt observed.

"I believe this plan would be of great benefit to students and to faculty members," Dr. Burt said.

Groups of students wishing to obtain a locker may contact John E. Weems, Director of Student Activities, in the Administration Building.

Campus students who wish to obtain post office boxes may go directly to the campus post office and request a box.

Students who join together in a locker should notify the Dean's office of all persons using the locker so that a correct list can be compiled.
