

Sig Ep Singers Win Trophy

By BOB COLLINS
Fraternity-Sorority Editor

North Carolina Iota Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity walked off with the honors at the Annual Sig Ep Ball held this past Saturday at the College Union on the North Carolina State College Campus in Raleigh.

The local chapter, attending its first Sig Ep Ball since its installation as a chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon last April won the highly coveted singing competition trophy.

Each year at the ball, the chapters of district five, which includes North and South Carolina, compete for the singing championship. Each chapter sings a song and the trophy is presented for the best performance.

For the past few years, High Point College has dominated the singing competition but this year it was ACC's turn. The local SPE's presented a Fred Waring arrangement of "No Man Is An Island."

The presentation of the song was started by Ted Hubert's reciting the 17th Devotion of John Donne which inspired the writing of the song. Then, led by Song Chairman Rex Cooper, the local chapter presented its rendition of the song.

The song competition and the crowning of the Sig Ep Queen are the highlights of the annual dance.

Preceding the dance was the annual Sig Ep Banquet. Bob Collins, Chaplain of the local chapter gave the invocation. The banquet was highlighted by an address by North Carolina Attorney General Malcolm Sewell. The Attorney General is a Sigma Phi Epsilon alumnus of University of North Carolina.

The speaker was introduced by Bedford Black, Grand Secretary of the fraternity and legislative Representative from Cabarrus County.

The ball was climaxed by the crowning of the Sig Ep Queen for the year. Miss Hilda Sermons, an ACC student representing the chapter at the University of North Carolina was elected as queen. Miss Emily Waters represented the local chapter. Acting as sponsors from the ACC group were Miss Peggy Pittman and Mrs. Thurla Hubert.

overcome the fraternity vote getting power.

All three men showed ability in their presentations in assembly Tuesday. Only one of them had any farce at all in his campaign presentation and that was drummed up by his campaign officials. It was one of the quietest campaign presentations in years and indicated that the Atlantic Christian College student body is turning more to seriousness in its politics.

Many of those in assembly Tuesday were more impressed with a campaign manager than with the candidates. Jay Prillaman, campaign leader for Brinson, hit the students attending where it meant the most, with his appeal for honest soul searching in deciding on the candidates. Prillaman said the

So whenever the crowd has a multiple thirst, make the high sign of good taste... pass around the Coca-Cola! Quod Erat Demonstrandum!
