PUBLISHED WEEKLY

ATLANTIC CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, APRIL 17, 1959

NUMBER TWENTY-ONE

Pre-Registration Begins Friday

Press Group Votes To Meet At ACC In 59-60

The 1959-'60 meetings of the North State Conference Press Association will be held on the campus of Atlantic Christian College, it was decided at the annual spring meeting of the association held at Guilford College Saturday. Delegates to the meeting voted to accept the invitation from ACC during the business session of the gathering. An invitation also was extended by Western Carolina College.

Meeting In December

The fall meeting of the association will be held at ACC the first weekend in December and the spring meeting will be held in April of 1960, it was announced by Dale Freeman of Appalachian State Teachers College, newly elected president of the association.

In the election held during the same business session, Freeman defeated Bob Collins of Atlantic Christian for the presidency of the association in a run-off election. The two had tied in the first voting. The third candidate was Derrick Hocking of Western Carolina College.

Named To Post

Miss Bette Pomfrey, newly elected business manager of The Collegiate at ACC, was named secretary and treasurer of the association. Miss Reba Fincher of Catawba College was elected vice-president.

Bill Noblit of Appalachian State presided over the business session as the retiring president of the association.

Appalachian Paper Wins

The Appalachian, a weekly newspaper at Appalachian State, was presented the association's trophy as the outstanding newspaper in the North State Conference. Serving as judges for the contest were the Journalism Schools of the University of Wisconsin, University of Nebraska, Tulane University and the University of Indiana.

Along with the decision on the best paper, the judges also presented each of the conference's newspaper staffs with a critical analysis of the papers.

James W. Bishop, Editor of The Collegiate at ACC, today released some of the reports concerning the local campus publication.

Coverage Outstanding

"All of the judges said the news coverage of The Collegiate is outstanding," Bishop said. "One judge gave us a perfect score of 15 points on news coverage. No other paper in the conference received that many points for news."

Bishop said most of the criticism of The Collegiate ranged in the

Big Push May Be Made To Build Music Study

By BOB COLLINS

Possibly the next concerted academic push on the Atlantic Christian College campus will come in the department of music. A survey of the Music Department shows that this department has great potential that can be developed.

The Music Department fulfills a two-fold purpose in the academic program at ACC. The department provides technical training for the music majors, and it acquaints all students with the place that music occupies in the liberal arts tradition.

James V. Cobb, member of the faculty of the Music Department, pointed out that music is a part of man's total experience, a means of communication of ideas, and the study of music can enrich life and increase one's understanding of it.

The Music Department of ACC, through the training of majors, through its music survey course, through its church music courses and through the music education courses brings the department into contact with the students in a

Fifteen Students Tapped By Golden Knot Society

Fifteen Atlantic Christian College students, all upperclassmen, were tapped into Golden Knot Honor Society in Howard Chapel Tuesday morning in special ceremonies.

Golden Knot is the college's only honor organization. Membership is determined by leadership qualities expressed by the students both in the classroom and on the campus. A student must have been enrolled at ACC for three full semesters to be eligible for membership.

The quality point average required for membership is 2.0.

James W. Bishop, president of the society, presided at the tapping ceremony and explained the qualifications for membership. He said the requirements fall into three categories, character, leadership and service.

Participating in the ceremonies along with Bishop were past members of the society. They were Mrs. Linda Lee Newton, Mrs. Frances Howard Williams, Kenneth Brinson, Miss Anna Lovelace, Miss Carolyn Miles, Mrs. Mary Jo Eason, Ralph Messick and Miss Sara Brame.

Those tapped for membership at

Marshals Named By Dean Today

Marshals to serve for the coming year were announced today by Dr. Millard P. Burt, ACC Dean.

Dr. Burt said the marshals, the top academic students in their classes, will begin their year of service with the college's annual Commencement on Sunday, May 24.

Named Chief Marshal

Named Chief Marshal was Harold Wayne Quinton, a junior from Morristown, Tenn. Selected from the Junior class were Miss Emily Waters of Plymouth, and Robert M. Poulk of Goldsboro.

Serving as Sophomore class marshals will be Miss Bette Pomfrey of Wilson, and Carlton E. Best of LaGrange.

Miss Mary Ann Marchant of Raleigh, and Willie M. Brannan, Jr., of Zebulon, were selected from the Freshman class.

Christian College Chorus from April 26 to May 4, was announced today by James V. Cobb, Chorus Director.

Mr. Cobb said 51 persons will be in the traveling group that will sing 13 concerts during the period the chorus is away from the campus.

The tour will open at the Hillier Memorial Christian Church in Raleigh, at 11 a.m. on Sunday, April 26. That night the chorus will sing at the Holloway Street Christian Church in Durham, at 8 p.m.

On Monday morning, April 27, the chorus will sing for the student body at Elon College at 10 a.m. That night a program will be presented at the First Christian Church in Greensboro, at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday morning, April 28, the chorus will sing for the students at Guilford College. That night a program will be presented at the First Christian Church in Winston-Salem, at 8 p.m.

On Wednesday, April 29, the chorus will sing two times at the North Carolina Convention of Christian Churches. At 5:30 p.m. the group will sing at the Atlantic Christian College banquet of the convention to be held at the Dillworth Methodist Church in Charlotte. At 8:15 p.m. the chorus will sing at the evening session of the convention at the First Christian Church of Charlotte.

The chorus will then move into

Will Include Both Fall And Summer Students

Classroom Bldg. Will Be Scene Of Spring Dance

Tonight in the lobby of the classroom building Atlantic Christian College will stage its traditional Spring Dance. Miss Carolyn Miles, Chairman of the dance and also of the campus Social Committee announced that the dance will be formal.

She said that white dinner jackets or black tuxedos will be the dress of the evening for the men, while the women are requested to wear either long or short formals. Miss Miles went on to say that if any male student is unable to obtain a tuxedo or dinner jacket, a dark suit will also be acceptable. "Your attendance is more important than your attire", she said.

Crisp To Play

The orchestra of Jim Crisp of Durham will provide the music for the evening's festivities. Spring will again be the theme of the annual affair as was the case last year. The lobby and terrace of the classroom building will be decorated in keeping with the spring theme.

Miss Miles, in commenting on the fact that the dance will be held in the lobby of the classroom building, said that the Social Committee had tried to get several other suitable places off-campus but nothing could be worked out.

A pre-registration for classes to be held during the Summer session and during the fall semester in September, was announced today by Dr. Millard P. Burt, ACC Dean.

Dr. Burt said the pre-registration is scheduled to begin next Friday. Today he urged all students planning to attend either the summer session or the fall semester next September to make appointments with their advisors immediately so as to be able to pre-register for classes during the allotted time.

The ACC Dean said the pre-registration will end on May 13. All pre-registering for classes will be carried out by faculty advisors, Dr. Burt said. None of it will be done at the Administration Building.

All students are urged to pre-register. Sections will be closed on a maximum enrollment basis, Dr. Burt explained, and students who do not pre-register will not be permitted to enroll in those courses that are filled. Dr. Burt said, however, that more course sections will be added if the pre-registration shows a need for them.

Printed schedules for the fall semester 1959, will be made available next Thursday. Students may obtain the class schedules from their advisors. Summer schedules already have been distributed among students. Other copies are available in the Registrar's office in the Administration Building.

Dr. Burt today explained another matter pertaining to pre-registration. He said all students other than those graduating or planning not to return next Fall should pre-register. Those who do pre-register and then later decide they will not enroll are asked to notify the Dean's

Poems By ACC Students Selected For Publication By Duke Magazine

Honor came this week to two students from Atlantic Christian College when their poems were chosen for inclusion in "Archive," literary magazine published at Duke University.

Miss Anne W. Nelson, junior English major from Robersonville, and Sanford Peele, junior English major from Wilson, contributed poems to a contest sponsored by "Archive" for the annual Literary Arts Celebration on Duke campus.

The judges, members of the Duke faculty, pointed out that the two students from Atlantic Christian College were the only students outside the Duke student body whose work was considered worthy of publication.

On the days set aside for the special arts celebration, the winning work was discussed by various specialists in the types of writing submitted. Randall Jarrell, poet, critic, and professor at Woman's College, discussed the poems of Miss Nelson, Peele, and the writers from Duke. Miss Nelson, Peele, and Dr. Mildred Hartsock, Chairman of the English Department at ACC, attended the Literary Arts Celebration at Duke.

A copy of "Archive" has been placed in Hardy Library and may be seen there by those who wish to read the poems. These poems will also be included in the May issue of "The Little Review," literary magazine being prepared by majors in the Department of English.

Annual Awards Schedule Is Announced This Week

The month of May will see a series of awards assemblies that will be climaxed by the commencement exercises on Sunday, May 24.

Miss Mickey Raynor, Chairman of the Awards Committee, announced this week the schedule of awards assemblies.

On either May 5 or 7, awards will be made in the areas of dramatics, intramurals, and publications. The dramatics awards will be presented by Mrs. Doris C. Holsworth; the intramural awards, by Gordon E. Coker; and the publications certificates will be given by James E. Fulghum.

The assembly May 12 will be the annual Blue-White Awards Day. On that day, the officers of the Cooperative Association, the officers of the dormitory councils, the co-editors of The Collegiate and the editor of the Pine Knot will be installed.

Also on Blue-White Day, the science awards, the Wilson Daily Times publications Award and keys to this year's Cooperative association officers will be presented. The science award will be given by Warren Tait. The Wilson Daily Times award will be presented by Mrs. Elizabeth G. Swindell, Editor and Publisher of the paper. Blue-White Day will see the presentation of the Rotary Scholarship Cup to the student with the highest average for the year. The students that were recognized in Who's Who among colleges and Universities will be presented.

Also presented on this day will be the Denny Essay Cup. This award is presented annually to the student entering the best essay on the ACC motto "Habebunt Lumen Vitae" — they shall have the light of life.

John H. Rich, Dean of Men and member of the Awards Committee, announced the requirements for the contest this week.

The entries must be typed, double spaced, and must be from 500 to 1,000 words in length. They will be judged on originality, insight, and historical and literary understanding of the motto. Any full time student of the college may en-
