IFC President's Speech Calls For New Program

James Van Camp, newly-elected president of the Interfraternity Council of Atlantic Christian College, outlined a three-point program for the IFC to follow next year.

These plans were presented to the IFC at a meeting held last week. The three points advocated by Van Camp were: 1, Let's grow; 2, Let's grow scholastically; and 3, Let's grow socially. Van Camp said that following these three points could prove to be "a starting point for a strong IFC at ACC."

In further business at the IFC meeting, Billy Batchelor, from Sigma Pi Fraternity was elected vice-president of the IFC. Other officers were also elected at the meeting: Miss Zarelda Walston, Phi Sigma Tau, was elected Secretary and Julius Woody, Alpha Sigma Phi, was elected Treasurer.

In his plans for the IFC to grow Van Camp suggested that the Greek letter organizations plan a united publicity campaign that will reach students planning to attend ACC. He said that a brochure showing that fraternity and sorority life has many advantages and is not a substitute for academic achievement, but a supplement to it would be a valuable asset.

Van Camp said that this brochure, sent out to these future students during the summer months would increase the desire to become a member of a fraternity or sorority, and would place fraternity life on a higher plane in the eyes of parents.

Van Camp said that this brochure to restudy what it has to offer prospective members. "Let us face the fact that freshmen today are looking more for an education than they have been in the past. We must also realize that in the past many students joined fraternities in order to have a decent place to live, but as a result of the new dormitories being built on college campuses, this need is no longer vital," Van Camp said.

This led Van Camp to give his reasons for scholastic growth: "There is a need for the IFC to develop a better attitude toward scholarship which will convince parents, future fraternity and sorority members, and college administrators that fraternity life can truly help a person achieve academic success and make the transition to college level accomplishments," Van Camp said.

Van Camp also said that "a balanced participation in extracurricular activities usually complements good scholarship and that a

College Appreciation Week To Begin Here On Sunday

The Wilson Chamber of Commerce, aware of the importance of a college in the community, next week will salute Atlantic Christian College with a week-long college appreciation program.

College Appreciation Week will begin Sunday morning at 11 a. m. when members of the college faculty and staff speak in local churches at the morning worship service.

It is the start of a long list of events to be held during the week to focus attention on the college, its program and its people.

Sunday afternoon a combined concert by the Atlantic Christian College band and chorus will be presented at the Wilson Community Center at 4 p. m. All students and faculty members are urged to attend.

A luncheon for Chamber of Commerce members will be held on the campus Monday at 1 p. m. in the college dining hall. Speaker at the luncheon will be Dallas D.

Miller, Manager of the Swift and Company plant here. This will be followed at 2:15 p. m. by the dedication of the new men's dormitory. The program will be held in the dormitory parking lot and all faculty members and students are urged to attend. Speaker for the dedication will be Dean Henry L. Kamphoefner of the School of Design, North Carolina State College.

A track meet will follow the dedicatory ceremonies and will be held on the Jaycee field at Fleming stadium at 3 p. m.

Tuesday night, the Chamber of Commerce will honor members of the Atlantic Christian College faculty at a banquet at the Wilson Country Club at 6:30 p. m. Speaker at the banquet will be Charles M. Fleming, a local jeweler.

Civic Clubs of the community will gather on the college campus Wednesday and Thursday nights for dinners to be held in the college dining hall. Speaking at the dinners will be Dr. G. A. Constantine, Chairman of the Department of Education and Psychology at ACC, on Wednesday night, and Dr. Daniel M. McFarland, Chairman of the Department of Social Studies, on Thursday night.

At 1 p. m. Thursday, the ACC baseball team will play a double-header with Lenoir Rhyne College at Fleming stadium as a part of the observance.

Friday night Chamber of Commerce members have been invited to be guests of the student body at the annual Spring Dance in the lobby of the classroom building. The dance will start at 8 p. m.

Lee S. Gliarmis, Chairman of the Chamber's College Cooperation Committee, is serving as Chairman of College Appreciation Week. A large committee of chamber members have been working for about three months in planning the week-long observance.

Final Revision Made For New Constitution

By T. RILEY

At the regular weekly meeting of the Executive Board of the Cooperative Association this week, a considerable amount of time and attention were devoted to the revised constitution. The board was preparing the document for its presentation to the student body for approval on Thursday.

In the business meeting Franklyn Brooks, President of the Junior Class, announced the plans and arrangements made by the appointed committee concerning the coming Executive Board Banquet. Brooks told the board that the banquet would be held Monday, May 2, at 6:00 p. m. Brooks, acting as chairman of the banquet committee, stated that during the evening's program, Dr. William Troutman, a member of the faculty of Atlantic Christian, will be the main speaker.

Tom Ferguson, a student of ACC, presented to the Executive Board a recommendation that the Cooperative Association invite, on behalf of the student body, Senator Hubert Humphrey, contender for the Democratic nomination for the President of the United States, to speak on the Atlantic Christian College campus.

Ferguson said that contact with Senator Humphrey had already been made and that such an en-agement could officially be set at the expense of $1000.

After some deliberation on the issue, the board stated that an op-

WUS Fund Drive Ends Here Today

The World University Service Fund Drive on the Atlantic Christian College campus comes to a close today Bob Bishop, who is serving as a solicitor for the drive, announced.

"Members of the ACC family who have not contributed to this fund are urged to make their donations as soon as possible," Bishop said. He also said that donations will be accepted next week from students who are unable to contribute at the present time.

WUS is the only drive that ACC students are asked to donate to in the spring semester. Several years ago the Executive Board decided to concentrate on one large charity drive each semester instead of continually harassing the students for money.

The Executive Board gave the choice of the charity to the Campus Christian Association who directs the fund raising. "WUS was chosen as the charity to support because it is a student organization, which helps students who are attempting to help themselves," Bishop said.

"Throughout the history of World University Service the international organization has demonstrated a keen ability to further the cause of education in underdeveloped areas," Bishop said.

Commenting further on the importance of WUS Bishop said: "WUS is an organization of students from 41 countries concerned with the fight against poverty, disease, ignorance, and despair in

Awards Days Announced To Be May 3, 5 And 19

Eugene C. Purcell, Chairman of the Awards Committee of Atlantic Christian College, announced the schedule of awards assemblies for the year, this week.

Tuesday, May 3, Awards Day will be held on the terrace of the classroom building, weather permitting.

At this assembly, dramatics awards, publications awards, science awards, the dedication of the Pine Knot, and the students in Who's Who will be presented.

Among those awards presented that day, there are a number held in high esteem. In addition to the dramatics awards, the Wilson Daily Times Publications Award is made to the student who is judged to have done the outstanding job in campus publications during the year.

A great deal of sentimental value is always attached to the dedication of the Pine Knot, the college annual, to a member of the faculty, or college staff.

On May 5, the annual Blue White day will be held. This will also be on the terrace of the classroom building.

On that day, the installation of officers of the Cooperative Association will be held.

In addition to the installation, the Rotary cup awarded to the student who has compiled the highest scholastic average during the year will be presented.

The Denny Essay Cup will be given at that time also. This award goes to the student submitting the best essay on the college motto, "Habebunt Vitae Lumen" (they shall have the light of life.)

The senior class gift will be presented to the college on May 5.

On May 19, athletic awards day will be held. At this time, all intramural and intercollegiate athletic awards will be presented. The coveted Kiwanis Trophy, which goes to the outstanding athlete of the year will be presented that day.

Then, at the commencement exercises May 29 at the Wilson Recreation Center, the Faculty cup, which goes to the outstanding graduate, and the Waters cup, which goes to the person who has contributed most to the religious life of the college during the year, will be presented.

Dean Urges All Students To Register In Advance

Advance registration for the 1960 summer and fall terms will begin May 10, it was announced this week by Dr. Millard P. Burt, ACC Dean.

Dr. Burt pointed out in his announcement that it is necessary for all students who are presently enrolled at the college, and who plan to return to ACC next fall, to register during the advance registration period.

"Every effort will be made to make registration for the Summer Session and the Fall term as convenient, efficient, and as effective as possible," Dr. Burt said. He went on to add, "A new system was inaugurated last year, and many difficulties developed. It is well to point out some of these to show measures to be taken to avoid the same problems this year."

Dr. Burt then pointed out that at the beginning of the school year, when the new system of using the class cards was started, a bottleneck developed when it was discovered that each student's name had to be punched on the cards. "The supplier of the system failed to inform us beforehand that the names had to be punched on the cards," Dr. Burt said.

The Dean also said that the large number of last-minute schedule changes complicated the registration procedure. "This year, students are to work out a complete schedule with their advisors and change it only if a definite need arises," the Dean said.

Dr. Burt also noted that applications for admission are way ahead of last year, and that the number of students that can be accepted is limited. Priority will be given to returning students, but they may take advantage of this priority only through advance registration.

It was also noted that last year, a large number of students who had registered in the spring of the previous term did not return. "The college must have some tangible evidence of each student's intention to return next fall," the Dean said.

Dr. Burt then went on to say, "As an indication of faith and plan to return, each student will be required to pay an advance registration payment of ten dollars at registration. This is not an additional charge because it will be applied to the charges for the term. This advance payment will be refunded at any time until August 24, 1960. If a student who has registered in advance decides not to return, and notifies the college before August 24, then the payment will be refunded. After August 24, the payment will not be refunded."

Dr. Burt then listed the following procedure to be followed for advance registration:

Fall schedules will be available from the departments and the switchboard on April 29.

Students should determine a tentative selection of courses for the summer and - or fall terms.

Students will meet with advisors on Tuesday, May 10, to receive final instructions and complete the required forms.

Advisors will turn in summer school and - or fall registrations according to the following schedule:

May 10 and 11 — graduating
