

Frats Install Pledges, Discuss Assorted Plans

Delta Sigma Phi

The Brothers of Delta Sigma Phi formally pledged 21 young men after the bids were sent out. The brothers are looking forward to a very successful year, the pledge-master stated. Mr. Matthews added that the fraternity was pleased with the results of the other fraternities, also, since all of them would be working together through the I.F.C.

Delta Sig has started meeting on Wednesday nights instead of Monday nights. This was changed so the representatives on the Co-Op Board would not have to rush back for the fraternity meetings.

The applications for the four "bull-pledges" have been sent in to the national office, and their initiation will take place in the next couple of weeks.

Delta Sigma Phi reported that Alumni Larry McSwain and George Barkley visited A.C. last weekend.

Alpha Sigma Phi

Alpha Sig announced that four men pledged the fraternity. There was a joint meeting of the Alumni Board and the Alpha Sig Board following the formal introduction of the new pledges. It was reported that Dr. Burt attended the meeting and planned to attend other meetings in the future. Plans were discussed to correct some of the faults of the past year's operation. Also, plans to work on the house and to get a new one as soon as possible, were discussed.

Alpha Sig would like to congratulate James Abrams on being elected Mr. Top Hat at the annual Top Hat Dance held on Campus last Saturday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

President Dave Mustian issued the charge of becoming pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon to the men on October 19. These men will undergo an extensive pledge training program under the leadership of pledge trainer Bill Alexander.

Dave Smith was initiated into the brotherhood of Sigma Phi Epsilon on October 19. Brother Smith was given the oath by President Mustian.

During the first part of the school year Sig Ep's fraternity house underwent an extensive remodeling job. The Alumni Lounge was dedicated after it had been repainted and refurbished with a television set and tables for playing cards.

The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon have undertaken the job of relandscaping the yards around the frat house. This project is now underway under the leadership of Bobby Swinson.

Grade Standards, Pines, Carnival Get Attention Of ACC Sororities

Phi Sigma Tau

At the next I.F.C. meeting, Phi Sigma Tau sorority will go on record as being in full support of every endeavor to raise academic standards among the Greek letter groups. The sisters, after considerable discussion at the past two meetings, have decided to endorse the I.F.C.'s recommendations regarding an 80 percent required average of "C" for each sorority and compulsory study hall for pledges.

At the last meeting, president Judy Bissette conveyed to the sisters the gratitude of the Top Hat Candidates for having been selected to participate. She also thanked the various committees for their efforts toward the Top Hat Dance.

Carole Barber and Carlaine Richards, pledge masters, presented tentative plans for initiation, which is scheduled for December 3-4.

Shirley Gaskins explained the C. C. A. project, the African King Pageant, to raise money for the World University Service. Elizabeth Bell presented another project idea, a carnival, for the same purpose. The sisters voted to participate in both projects.

An donation to CARE was made individually by the sisters.

Omega Chi

The sisters of Omega Chi are now wearing their sorority pins which they received last week. The pins are made of yellow gold in the shape of the greek letters. Pearls and rubies are used on the pin and the guard.

Wednesday evening of last week the sisters and pledges met for the formal pledging ceremony. Each pledge was presented a pledge pin, and the formal pledge training was begun.

The sorority is beginning work on a service project in co-operation with the First Christian Church. The church women make dolls for Christmas and the sorority is planning to make scenes in which to place the dolls for display.

The sorority also worked in co-operation with townspeople in passing out materials about the hospital bond issue.

Sigma Tau Chi

Judy Collins told the sisters that each fraternity and sorority was supposed to set up a booth for the WUS carnival, which is to be held back of the gym. The committee appointed to work on this project is Nanelle Edmundson, chairman; Janet Blackwood, co-chairman.

Plans for the Harvest Dance were also discussed. Nancy Britt, social chairman, appointed the following chairmen: Janet Blackwood, entertainment; Arlene Rabel and Flora Griffin, refreshment; Peggy Greene, decoration; Joyce Miller, tickets.

Clint Bunn announced college seals with the Greek letters of the sorority can be ordered for about $1.25. Judy Mills, Ida Sue Neighbors, Flora Griffin and Ann Hamilton volunteered to be on the committee to clean up the sorority filing cabinet.

Grateful letters from two sisters were read. One being from Nancy Teterton thanking them for the gift congratulating her recent marriage; the other being from Ruby Bazemore, expressing her confidence in the sorority.

Delta Sigma

Lynn Crews, Corresponding Secretary, is completing plans for obtaining pledge pins for the pledges of Delta Sigma.

Sybil Hill, Vice-president is in charge of getting the Student Directories completed for a sale after Thanksgiving. This is an annual project held by the sorority.

With the cancellation of the Valentine Dance, the sisters are planning an informal dance to be held on January 27. This will be a Welcome Back Dance honoring all students who return to A.C.C. second semester.

After voting on Monday afternoon, it was decided by the sisters to have a supervised closed study for the pledges in their individual rooms. This is a very important facet of their pledge training and will be followed through by each pledge.

Initiation has been planned for January 6 and 7.

A meeting of all pledges was called on Monday night by Co-Pledge Mistresses Kathy Weatherly and Barbara Bland.

Young Durham Artist Displays Work Here

A group of oil paintings by an outstanding young Durham, North Carolina artist are currently on exhibition in the art gallery at Atlantic Christian College. Some fifteen paintings by Mrs. Anne Basile may be seen in the main classroom building gallery through November 11.

Russell Arnold, Art Department head, pointed out that Mrs. Basile started painting only ten years ago but in that time has earned respect in art circles in this area. Mrs. Basile has exhibited extensively in North Carolina and Virginia, but she has also drawn attention in art shows in New Jersey and Washington, D. C. where she has been associated with the Collectors Gallery. Her paintings are owned by a number of private collectors.

In 1950 Anne Basile began serious study in painting for the first time with Merry Caplan, to whom she credits much of her success. At the time Caplan held a series of classes in Durham. After four years with Caplan, Mrs. Basile took courses with Kenneth Ness of the Art Department of the University of North Carolina, Earl Mueller of Duke University, and Gregory Ivey of the Art Department of W. C. U. N. C.

Arnold indicated that Mrs. Basile has been influenced also by some of America's best contemporary painters, such as Willem deKooning and Franz Kline. Her work shows a tendency toward the concepts developed by the Action Painters of America since World War II. "Considering the fact that Anne holds a full time job with an insurance firm," Arnold said, "she is a prolific painter who seems to get better and better as time passes. She apparently turns out twenty or thirty complete paintings a year."

Born in Durham in 1922, Anne Basile has lived there all her life except for short periods of residence in St. Louis and Miami. Mrs. Basile has a full time job doing sales promotion work for Home Security Life Insurance Co., Durham, N. C.
