IFC Holds First 62-63 Assembly On Sept. 18

MARY LOUISE WESTPHAL

President Jay Barnhill called the Interfraternity Council meeting of the 1962-63 school year to order Tuesday, Sept. 18. Following the roll call and the reading of the minutes by Sidney Jean Wilson, the treasurer, Ed Perkins reported that there was $81.47 in the IFC treasury.

There was a lengthy discussion as to whether the Greeks would have a Greek Sing or not. The IFC board finally decided that this year, for the first time, the Greeks would have a non-competitive Greek Entertainment Night instead of a competitive Greek Sing. Mr. Barnhill announced that Wink Holland will be in charge of this entertainment night which is to be held Friday, Oct. 19. A committee, the president of each sorority or fraternity, was appointed to work with Mr. Holland, and Dean Warren suggested that the committee bring back to the IFC board at their next meeting the plans that they decide on for this entertainment program.

There was great discord among the board members as to the date Rush would be held this year. Fan Faulkner suggested that the sororities have rush separate from the fraternities and at a later date than fraternities this year. This would give students a better chance to understand more about Sororities before Rush. Miss Wilson was not in favor of this being done this year. Bob Bishop moved that Rush be held Monday, Oct. 22 through Thursday, Oct. 25. After a long debate among the committee, Fall Semester Rush was set for Mr. Bishop's proposed dates.

Mr. Barnhill announced that Joel Newton will be in charge of rush this year, and will set up a program as to when each alphabetical group will visit a certain sorority or fraternity. Sorority rush will be in the afternoon and fraternity rush at night.

Mr. Barnhill made it quite clear that he hopes this year many of ACC students will visit the different sororities and fraternities on campus and that rush will be a satisfying success.

Presidential Nominees Offer Their Pre-Election Views Of Frosh Class

By JESS MAGHAN

Interviews with candidates for president of the freshman class accentuated the strong competition that was evident during the campaign last week.

Floyd Harnage, graduated from Jacksonville High School where he was president of the Science Club and vice president of the Latin and Drama Clubs. When queried as to why he chose Atlantic Christian, Harnage replied that he desired a small college to gain the benefits from close faculty-student association. According to Harnage, "the greatest problem facing a freshman is the ability to 'buckle down' and study also the development of character in the new horizon of the college world. 'The Class of '66 is a swell group and are out to do a good job," Harnett concluded.

Joe Eastman is a graduate of Beaufort High School where he was president of the junior and senior class. Eastman came to Atlantic Christian seeking to locate a campus with a friendly atmosphere and small student body. "It is easier to adjust and the benefits are more readily available on a small campus," Eastman stated. "The outside party activities are not so demanding as is evident at larger colleges and universities."

Eastman viewed the greatest problem facing a freshman as the adjustment to new surroundings, the transformation from "home rule," so to speak, to life on "your own." In commenting on the Class of '66, Eastman felt that this year's freshman class was to be the largest and best freshman class Atlantic Christian has ever experienced. "The year will prove this as the freshman potential is tapped in all phases of college life," Eastman assured.

Gene Brown comes to Atlantic Christian from Durham High School where he was active in debating and forensic leagues. Gene was also homeroom president and served on

Juke Box Is Returned By Exec. Board

A petition circulated throughout the Bohunk concerning the absence of a juke box in the main student center, in part, caused the executive Board to pass a resolution placing a music machine in the Bohunk with the restriction that the first act of vandalism would result in the immediate removal of the juke box.

A one of its first movements the Executive Board approved the budget committee report submitted by various campus organizations.

At the second meeting of the year, Day Student representative B. H. Hinnant, Chairman of the Projects Committee of Student Affairs, submitted a report of recommendations concerning: executive board meetings with the board of trustees; student calendars to inform students of coming activities; the organization of money-raising projects for the building of a Student Union; and plans for more activities for students on campus during the weekends. These recommendations were accepted.

Acting upon a proposal made by Co-op Vice-president Sandra Freedman, President E. B. Shearin appointed Odom Latham to be chairman of a committee to investigate a new way of having students nominated for the Co-op elections, which would arouse more student interest. Assisting Latham on the committee are John Cox, and Don Brubaker.

It was moved to place Pat Neil as Assistant to the Treasurer, Ken Thornton.

Odom Latham was accepted as Senator from the Junior Class. He replaces Judy Blythe, who transferred to another college.
