Exec Board Votes To Require Debate

The Executive Board, during its weekly meeting Monday night, heard a report on the grade posting issue, debated a suggestion for a revival of May Day, and approved a motion requiring Cooperative Association presidential candidates to debate their platforms in an assembly.

Bob Stone reported that he had met with a faculty committee to discuss the continuation of the policy of posting exam scores. He said that there was a possibility of allowing students to turn in a self-addressed post card to their teachers and have the scores sent to them. This, however, would have to be approved by the entire faculty. Mr. Stone stressed the fact that the matter is essentially a faculty one, and that students can only request a reversal of policy, not demand one. Dean Warren pointed out that individual professors could still tell a student his grade if they so desired.

John Cox suggested that May Day, discontinued several years ago, be revived. He said that it could be brought up to date to appeal to to present-day students by various means, and that a letter could be sent to the North State Student Government Association requesting information and advice. The board voted to set aside $25.00 for use of a May Day Committee to be selected from next year's board.

Rex Horne introduced a motion that in the future candidates for president of the Cooperative Association be required to present their platforms and to debate one another on them in an assembly a week prior to their regular campaign speeches.

No Collegiate

The Collegiate will not be published the week of Spring Vacation or the week after. The next issue will be published on May 4, 1963.
