

Thomas J. Hackney Jr. Is Elected Trustee Chairman

Thomas J. Hackney Jr., of Wilson, was elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of Atlantic Christian College at a meeting of the board held here recently.

Mrs. Stallings Is Honored In Competition

Mrs. Jane L. Stallings, 1003 Anderson St., Wilson, a senior at Atlantic College, received honorable mention recently in the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship competition designed to recruit new college teachers.

Over 11,000 faculty-nominated college seniors in the United States and Canada competed for the grants, and 1,395 were chosen for the 1965-66 academic year.

Recipients of Woodrow Wilson Fellowships will receive tuition and fixed fees at the graduate school of their choice, plus $1,800 for living expenses.

Receiving honorable mention were 1,242. The majority of these are expected to receive alternate awards from other sources. The program is the largest private source of support for advanced work in the liberal arts. It has been financed, since expansion to its present size in 1958, by two Ford Foundation grants totaling $52 million.

Shower Fad Is Still Around

Cleanliness, so they say, is next to godliness. Fanatics, religious and otherwise, are still splashing away as the shower fad continues to flood campuses.

A Sir George Williams university student in Montreal, Canada, just last month doused himself continuously for 60 hours. Not long after a Utah student immersed himself for 75 hours. Then the championship went south to New Mexico where to University of New Mexico freshmen stood and slept together under the nozzle for 80 hours. And all to no avail. A Canadian, Phil Calvert at Acadia University, has racked up an amazing 101 hours in the shower. Energizing dragging an air mattress behind him, Calvert allowed as to how he felt a little "frizzled."

Not to be outdone on the cleanliness kick, another Acadian student endured a 31 and a half hour molar-polishing marathon to smash the previous world record for tooth-brushing by more than 20 hours.

Many social commentators see the current rash of fads as a rebellion against the "Unwashed ethic" of the beatnik crowd. Supposedly the fads will continue to expand and will soon include hair-combing marathons, shaving contests, and may be even a nailclipping go-round or so.

Meanwhile, two Acadia co-eds added a new dimension to godliness and cleanliness, symbolically at least. They set a new international record for ice-cube tossing: 1,216 tosses of a single ice cube of standard size at room temperature.

The new chairman is the third generation of Hackneys to hold the top board post. He succeeded his father, Thomas J. Hackney Sr., who has held the post since 1936. The chairman's grandfather, George Hackney, served as chairman from 1906 until 1931.

The new chairman is president of Hackney Brothers Body Company. He joined the Atlantic Christian College Board of Trustees in 1957.

Commenting on Mr. Hackney's election as board chairman, Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, president of the college said, "Atlantic Christian is fortunate to have as new chairman of the Board of Trustees a man with the superior qualifications which Tom Hackney Jr., possesses. He has demonstrated his interest in the college in numerous way. He gave outstanding leadership in the college's most recent capital funds campaign of which he served as general chairman. He has served on important committees of the board. He will fill his office in a distinguished manner."

The new chairman of the board will also serve as chairman of the board's Executive Committee. Officers re-elected to serve on the committee were J. E. Paschall of Wilson, vice-chairman, and Milton L. Adams of Wilson, secretary. Others re-elected to serve on the committee were: S. M. Cozart of Wilson, Lawrence A. Moye of Maury,

Track, Tennis, & Golf Will Feature Stronger Bulldogs This Semester

The Second Annual Atlantic Christian Collegiate Invitational 54-Hole Golf Tournament will be featured in the ACC Bulldogs' spring sports schedule which also includes baseball, tennis and track in addition to golf.

This year the three-day, medal play tournament will begin Friday afternoon April 9, at 1 p.m. on the Wedgewood Country Club course.

Saturday afternoon the second 18-hole round will be battled on the Happy Valley Golf Club greens, and the final dound is set for the Wilson County Club.

In last year's tournament, the Bulldogs won both the team and individual honors. The link meet is run similar to the conference title matches except the CC championships are only 36 holes while the invitational runs 54.

The Bulldog Golf Team this year is comprised of Andy Anderson, Bill Autry, Gordon Fulp, Johnny Alford, Bill Doyle, Bob Cobby, Clifton Cole and Bud Cagle.

Last year the Bulldogs finished with a 10-4-1 mark, and were second in the conference.

On the ACC Tennis Team are several returnees including George Ramey, Garland Granger, Bill Boatert C. Frazier, assistant professor, Department of Science and Mathematics, for doctoral studies at the University of Illinois. The leaves of absence are effective Sept. 1, 1965.

Other action taken by the board was to approve a request by Phi Sigma Tau sorority to become affiliated with a national sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma.

The new tennis coach, Tommy Parham, hopes for a bright season through a year's experience.

The Bulldogs open the tennis schedule against St. Andrews on March 30 on the home courts. The first Carolinas Conference meet will be April 2 with Appalachian also in Wilson.

ACC's track team will feature several standouts from last season, some fine freshmen prospects, and a new coach. Buford Dixon has taken over the track and field squad since Jim Pfohl, last year's coach, has replaced Jack McComas as the baseball coach.

The Bulldogs's track team will feature cage star Alton Hill in the high and low hurdles, Chuck Whittington and Julian Foscoe in the hundred-yard dash. Expected to do well in the field events are Ken Jordan, Ken Brittain, Scott Worsham, and James "Jack" Redmond.

Middle-distance runners will be Carlton Scott, Bobby Joyner and Jimmy Shooke.

Charles Wolfe will be relied upon in the distance running events, and is trying hard to pattern after Chuch Hooks.

Atlantic Christian opens the season on April 2 against High Point in a Carolinas Conference meet in Wilson.
