new self-service bookstore, enlarged post office and Student Personnel Offices. The post office will contain two extra panels of boxes.

Upstairs will be the cafeteria, kitchen, and small eating area for the faculty. The cafeteria will be opened on the same procedure, with the same serving hours. A conveyor belt will take dirty dishes into the dishwashing room. The seating capacity will be 419 as compared to 240 in the old cafeteria. The building will be centrally air-conditioned—excluding the kitchens.

The old cafeteria and Bohunk will be converted into a lounge for Day Students, and offices for the SGA, Collegiate, and maintenance personnel downstairs. The upstairs could be converted into a ball room if necessary.

ACC's new Student Union Building, slated to begin operation for the opening of spring semester, will offer students a place to eat, to play, to relax.

In Flag Football Game Ends In Sudden Death

By RONNIE DENNIS

Delta Sigma Phi and Sigma Phi Epsilon wracked up victories in the semi-final round of the men's intramural flag football championship tournament last Tuesday. By the time you read this, the champion will have already been decided with the final round being played yesterday.

The SPE's defeated Alpha Sigma Phi in an overtime match. With the score deadlocked at 6-6, a sudden death overtime was played with the victory going to the team moving the ball the farthest in a series of four downs.

Delta Sigma Phi ran all over Sigma Phi's vaunted defensive unit and held off a last half surge by the Phi's to eliminate them 22-13. The game was finished in virtual darkness with no one really sure of what was happening in the waning minutes.

The intramural staff wishes to thank all officials and others who gave of their time to make this year's season the greatest ever at AC. A complete resume of the championship game will be given in next week's edition.

Frosh English Takes Limelight

STANFORD, Calif. (CPS) —

Freshman English, once the bane of all first year students, may easily become the favorite course for freshman in a three-year experiment. The writers, brought to Stanford from universities across the country, will devote their entire teaching time to seminars consisting of only 20 freshmen. Professor John Hawkes, novelist and member of the Brown University English Department, is director of the project. His latest novel, Second Skin, was nominated for the National Book Award.

First term instructors, in addition to Hawkes, include short story writer Sylvia Berkman, Wellesley College, and novelists Leo Litwak, San Francisco State, and Jerome Charyn and Clive Miller, both of Stanford.

Other teaching during the academic year include novelists Mitchell Goodman and Mark Mirsky, both from City College of New York, and poet-playwright Professor William Alfred of Harvard, author of the current New York stage hit, "Hogan's Goat."

Novelist-critic Benjamin DeMott, head of the Amherst College English department, is scheduled for next year. Novelist Kay Boyle, San Francisco State, is a consultant.

The U. S. Office of Education is supporting the project with a $185,000 contract.

Coach Ira Norfolk Expresses "Complete Satisfaction" With Team

After three weeks of early season drills, coach Ira Norfolk expressed complete satisfaction with his varsity team's efforts to date. Especially commendable has been the over-all team spirit and determination that has been prevalent in the daily practices.

Individually, the performances of team captains Larry Jones and Clyde Stallsmith have been especially noteworthy and other strong early season improvement has been shown by returnees Ed Carraway, Robert Gilmore, Robert Covington and Larry Schwab. Several sophomores, namely, uards George Owens and David Worthington, and center Rick Stallings have demonstrated an intense desire to play and are offering stern competition for the starting berths.

A second varsity - freshman scrimmage contest conducted last Friday indicated a general improvement in over-all team play and upon completion of the scrimmage, both varsity coach Norfolk and freshman coach Tom Parham felt that their squads were prepared for the initial pre-season scrimmages against other collegiate teams.

On Friday, Nov. 3, the Bulldogs host Campbell College in the first of three pre-season scrimmages. Prior to the scrimmage contest, members of the Bulldog Booster Club will be honored guests at a buffet to be held on the Atlantic Christian campus. In four years, memberships have increased 100 per cent, indicating the strong support rendered by the community personnel of Wilson.

On Saturday, Nov. 11, the ACC cage team will meet Elizabeth City State College at home and on Friday, Nov. 17 will journey to Elizabeth City for their final pre-season scrimmage. The Bulldogs scrimmage Campbell College's Junior Varsity team at Campbell on Nov. 3.

A fine air of optimism exists on the ACC campus and all sqm members are looking forward to their scrimmage sessions against outside competition.

Senior Must Submit List

All seniors are requested to turn in a list of their college activities such as organizations, offices held and special honors for the Senior Activity section of the college annual.

This information must be printed on an index card and placed in the Pine Knot mail box in the lobby of the SGA building no later than Nov. 8.

John Mayfield Presents Voice Recital Monday

John Mayfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Boyd Mayfield of Norlina, North Carolina, will present a voice recital in Howard Chapel, Nov. 6 at 8:15 p. m. Mayfield, a bass-baritone, will include selections from Handel, Lully, Schubert and Mendelssohn in his recital. E. E. Brown of the music department is to accompany him.

Mayfield began studying voice under J. Ross Albert when he transferred to ACC as a sophomore. He sang in N. C. State's Varsity Men's Glee Club. Presently, Mayfield is a member of the chorus, vocal ensemble, and chapel choir. He is a soloist for "The Other Side", a campus folk-singing group, and will perform in the National Southeastern Regional Conference and Eleventh Annual Student Auditions.
