NUMBER TWENTY ONE

Spring Fever

Spring fever, a fairly common communicable disease during this season, has left ACC nearly devastated. It seems almost, if not completely, impossible to sit in class, then return to the dorm and hit the books. That is the problem. Solution: hit the books under the trees as coed Kay Delbridge is doing in the above photograph. (In case someone doesn't already know, the photo was made by Ben Casey)

Old Board Bows Out; New One Is Oriented

by JOYCE COPELAND

The last meeting of the Executive Board for 1967-68 was held on April 1, with outgoing president Doug Dexter presiding. Treasurer Ellis Kirkland reported that $10,729 had been added to the SGA bank account. This brings the balance to $12,171.94 which is about $750 less than had been anticipated. President Dexter announced that Dr. Robert Delp will be the speaker for the Executive Board banquet. The old board members presented evaluations of their year's work on the board to the new members. The meeting was adjourned.

New Officers

The new officers of the Executive Board met with the orientation committee on Tuesday night.

Tell It Like It Is!

The question this week is: In your opinion, how will the Atlantic Christian College professors respond to the results of the teacher-evaluation program. Members of the faculty were asked this question in a recent poll. Here are some of those answers.

"I think that most of the teachers will thoughtfully consider the questionnaire. To some extent the seriousness with which the questionnaire is taken will be determined by the number of students who take the project seriously and who are conscientious in answering the questions." (W.M.)

"I think that the majority will regard the Teacher's Evaluation project as a very helpful means of determining their effective-

'The Wilson Daily Times' Using New Offset Press

"The Wilson Daily Times," printers of The Collegiate for many years, ended an era Friday, March 29, as the paper switched operation from its 75-year-old press to a new 40-page Goss offset press.

The first edition of the paper rolled on the new press carried a four-column, front page, full color photograph of the college's new Student Center.

In an interview with a Daily Times reporter, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Swindell, editor and publisher of the paper, said of the old press, "We were very proud of it when we made the conversion, because that was quite a jump from the old eight-page flat-bed duplex press which was installed in 1922.

"A building had to be constructed and stereotyped equipment installed.

ACC Duo In Politics

Two familiar figures on the Atlantic Christian campus, Miss Tassie Langley, assistant professor of English, and Zeb Whitehurst, director of alumni affairs, have thrown their "hats" into civic and state-wide politics.

Whitehurst

Zeb M. Whitehurst III, director of alumni affairs at Atlantic Christian College and former school principal, has filed as a candidate for one of two seats on the Wilson City Board for Education to be filed in a non-partisan May 4 election.

Announcing his candidacy Whitehurst said, "After spending seven years in public education and as the father of two school age children, I am naturally interested in education in this community."

Whitehurst taught social studies and mathematics in a Burlington junior high school from January, 1955, until March, 1957, when he accepted a position in the personnel department

Miss Langley

Miss Tassie Langley of Sharpsburg, an assistant professor at Atlantic Christian College, who last week filed as a Republican candidate for the House of Representatives in the 14th District, has launched her campaign.

Miss Langley, seeking Seat No. 1 in the district comprised of Nash and Edgecombe counties, said she is concerned about education, farming, financial growth, federal controls and law enforcement.

The ACC assistant professor is opposing Democratic incumbent Rept. Joe Eagles of Crisp.

Miss Langley also is expressing a desire to see more women in state government and said, "We
