Old Shakespearan actor. Follwoing the "overture", Bill Griffin sets the mood for the ystory by singing "Try to Remember". He does an excellent job and will truly begins the play right. Cordelia Lewis is fresh and alive, almost starryeyed as she sings "More More," which leads into an ardent duet between Cordelia and Bob Noble, in which the boy is efficient but still somehow naive. The two fathers selection, "Never Say No", is quite amusing to the audience, as well as the humereus characters of the Mortimer and Old Shakespearan actor.

Students Extol Religion Professors In Project

By JOYCE COPELAND Managing Editor

The Course - Teacher Evaluaon was completed last Thursday. Each teacher was sent a etter stating the evaluation made on him by participating

The letter informs the teacher how many students ranked him in the top five, and how they rated him. If fewer than one fourth of the students who evaluated a teacher checked a one or a two on a given statement it was not given.

The Department of Religion and Philosophy had the most professors placing in the top five with four. Social Science and Education and Psychology came in second with two each. It is interesting to note that 15 of the students participating were Education majors and eight were Religion majors out of 75 juniors and seniors.

Students were also given a chance to mention majors they would like to see added to the curriculum. These majors included psychology, sociology, Home Economics, Journalism, and Recreation. Several courses seemed to be favored, as being dropped; Among these were Secondary Education, Healthful Living, Western Civilization, Handcrafts, and Folk and Ball-

Many students expressed an interest in seeing courses such as Library Science, Russian, Canoeing and Water Safety, and Physical Therapy added to the curriculum.

Eugene McCarthy Wins Recent College Primary Minnesota Senator Eugene Mc- students polled favored reduction

Carthy won the recent national collegiate primary, Choice 68.

McCarthy polled 285,988 of the 1,072,830 votes, with Senator
Robert Kennedy of New Yor running second receiving 213,832 votes. Over 44 per cent of the participants in this primary will be eligible to vote in the November Election.

The southeast favored Nixon with Kennedy close behind. Kennedy ran almost as powerfully in the Deep South, a region which favored an "all out" U.S. military effort in dealing with the Vietnam War, or at least an intensification of bombing.

Vice President Humphrey was the only significant write - in candidate garnering 18,535 votes. Forty - five per cent of the nam and 17 per cent favored immediate withdrawal, while 21 per cent voted for an "all-out U. S. military effort." Twentynine per cent voted for a suspension of bombing, 28 per cent for cessation, while 15 per cent voted to intensify the bombing. Four per cent of those voting favored nuclear weapons use. Education

Education and job training were favored for top - priority in federal urban spending with 40 per cent and 39 per cent respectively.

Eighty - five per cent of Mc-Carthy's supporters preferred either a phased reduction in military activity or immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces.
