

MISS MERRY CHRISTMAS—Miss Mary Kathryn Teiser of Henderson, a pretty coed at Atlantic Christian College, was named "Miss Merry Christmas" and reigned over Wilson's Christmas Parade held on Dec. 1. She appeared on the float pictured above with five other ACC coeds which served as her court including Miss Candy Moore of Falmouth, Maine; Miss Judy Youngblood of Raleigh; Miss Nancy Parks of Durham; Miss Kathy Humphrey of Washington; and Miss Fay Pollock of Dudley.

quite effective in keeping ACC's streak alive, firing in 19 points over the taller Bulldog front line. Sophomore forward Cliff Black remained the team scoring leader throughout the streak, but Black's high school teammate, 6-6 Jimmy Jones and a misplaced forward who promises to take Black's mantle as freshman of the year in the Carolinas Conference, 6-3 Bryan Chalk, suddenly blossomed under the strain of losing.

Aggressive

Jones, by far the most aggressive Dog offensively around the basket, emerged in the last three losses with 14 points against Elon, 11 against Guilford, and then, in what head Coach Ira Norfolk called "Jimmy's best game ever," 19 against Pembroke. Working with four fouls on him for most of that game, Jones hit eight of his nine field goal attempts and connected on three of four free throws, still finding time to grab nine rebounds as the Dogs beat is also reminded that when nearer lots are filled to capacity, the parking behind the Wilson Gymnasium remains relatively unused. As the campus

Pembroke off the boards, 54-33. Chalk, who has averaged in double figures all year as a reserve, got his first start of the season at guard against defense-minded Pembroke and responded with 14 points. That gave the former High School All-American forward 33 points in his last three games and held his average at 11.1 for the year.

If the Dogs dumped Catawba on Wednesday night and then defeat Virginia Commonwealth on Friday, don't be surprised if one of these youngsters sparks the wins.
