Dennis And Corbett Bid For Editor

Miss Mary Dennis and Tim Corbett are bidding for the editorship of the 1973-74 Collegiate. Miss Dennis is a junior from Ocala, Fla., majoring in education. Corbett is a sophomore, from Walstonburg, North Carolina, majoring in speech and hearing and is presently serving as editor of the Collegiate. Each candidate was given the opportunity to express himself to the students in an article written by the candidates. The following are the articles for Collegiate Editor.

The answer was yes, for all of these things ARE the paper and the paper is part of me! I feel that I have done the best I could this year, considering the amount of experience I had. After this year, I can truly say I have some good experience behind me. With your supporting me for re-election, together we can make next year's Collegiate 100 per cent better for everybody. Do not abuse your right to vote — Participate in democracy and vote for experience. Vote Tim Corbett.

In an effort to build school pride, the newspaper should be an effective tool in voicing the feelings of the student body. Too many times, certain issues are reported from one side.

I believe in a well-balanced paper with a variety of articles, giving equal time for all — Greeks, athletics, organizations, etc. We need to re-evaluate the purpose of our newspaper, realizing that its improvement is of benefit to everyone. I will work to the best of my ability to strengthen this outlet of communication.

TIM CORBETT

In making my decision to run for collegiate editor again, many things ran through my mind. Could I withstand all the static and criticisms from GDI's, Greeks and faculty about the quality of the Collegiate? Could I face another year of burning the midnight oil in putting the paper to bed; the running back and forth to the Daily Times to deliver and pick up the paper? Could I face the almost impossible job of getting a qualified staff together and keeping it?

Poet Will Appear

James Dickey, poet and novelist, will appear on the campus of Atlantic Christian College, Friday, March 16. He will read from his work at 8 p.m., in Howard Chapel.

Though best known as a poet, Dickey has written one best-selling novel, "Deliverance," the filmed version of which recently played in Wilson. He himself played the role of the sheriff in the film.

Dickey presently writer-in-residence at the University of South Carolina, is one of the best known of living American poets. His fourth volume, "Buckdancer's Choice," won the National Book Award for Poetry in 1966, and he served for two years as poetry consultant to the Library of Congress. His collected poems were subsequently published by the Wesleyan University Press.

A veteran of the U. S. Air Force, Dickey flew over 100 combat missions in World War II and the Korean War and was awarded three decorations for bravery. His poems have often dealt with his feelings about war. After six years of career in business in New York, he abandoned business for poetry. He has been poet-in-residence at Reed College and San Fernando Valley State College.

Dickey is a native of Atlanta. He attended Clemson University where he played football and was graduated from Vanderbilt University. An enthusiastic outdoorsman, he is also a virtuoso on the guitar. He is a popular performer on the college circuit.

Tough President Race

In the upcoming SGA election four names will appear on the ballot for President. Each candidate has submitted an article concerning his views on the office and the campus activities at Atlantic Christian.

DANNY SMITH

Hi, I am Danny Smith a candidate for the office of President of the Student Government Association of Atlantic Christian College. Presently I am a member of the SGA Executive Board serving in the capacity of Junior Class Senator.

This past fall semester I personally took it upon myself to try and improve what little security AC had. My proposal was sent by the SGA to the Board of Trustees. The Trustees saw need to take action and in the near future high powered floodlights will be installed in the darker areas of the campus. However, I feel more progress can be made in the field of security and I will campaign with this as one of my issues.

At the present time I am working with the college in trying to develop a parking system to improve existing facilities.

In the past year I have worked with several AC females for extensions of hours in final hopes of obtaining self-determining hours.

Also I am working on having fraternities governed by the same rules that govern apartments. Another issue I plan to campaign on is allowing sororities to purchase a house if they so desire.

The most important point I have saved to last. Majoring in Political Science has taught me to place faith in the political process as long as the "Buck" is not passed. I fully agree with the late President Turman, "The Buck stops here".

However, stability and its existence depends on apathy which maintains the Status Quo. Last spring the students of AC mobilized to express their concern. In doing so many of the changes desired came into existence. The first step in combating apathy is a right we all have — the right to vote. The next steps take a little more time, but anything worth having is worth working for.

I would appreciate your vote at the polls next week and if elected I will do everything in my power to express your concern. Thanks for your time.

ANDY GAY

Yes, I am concerned ... I am concerned about what happens in every facet of campus activity. Whether it be campus improvement, student life, administrative reform, faculty evaluation, etc. These things are all important to me because I hope to become a graduate of ACC and this school will be a direct reflection upon me and my fellow students. We must work toward a better ACC and develop a sense of pride in this school. This pride can only be developed through student involvement and the willingness to learn, yet not be dictated. We will have worked four years for our diploma and it should mean more than just a job placement, it should be a part of our lives.

The needs of the students cannot go unrecognized, everyone is aware of that, so why continue to argue about what we want. The problem that exists is how we are going to satisfy our needs. Lets put our needs alongside the needs of the college and come up with the best possible answers. Why continue to pull ourselves further and further apart by using the same old slogans of "we want visitation", "we want drinking on campus", or "give us better parking." If these are what the students want then the strongest diplomacy available is the study body joined together in thought and action.

I am proud of ACC but it gets harder everyday to understand why so many intelligent men and women sit back and accept what is thrown at them. Take a part in your life — don't let others make your decisions. Let the upcoming election be a starting point toward getting involved and making your own decisions. With your support we can build a better ACC and then ACC can help build a better you. After all that is what you are spending your money and time here for, to build a better you.

MIKE SCOTT

I feel that an important aspect in any community is that of change. Not change for the pure sake of change, but change for the betterment of all involved. To many people change for no other reason than being different, or going against established practices is the only thing that matters. I feel that this is wrong. I feel that a basis for change starts with a need, a need that is important and needs to be taken care of. Before we can bring about change, we need to examine the possibilities and see what definitely needs to be done, and how this change can be brought about most effectively and for the benefit of the most of those concerned. This may be a slower process than some, but I feel that it is an important process, and the only one that can be used to bring about the most effective change.

I am all for change. Not change for the sake of change, but change for the betterment of all those involved. I feel that there are those who see definite wrongs in policies of this school, and who have a deep down concern about seeing these wrongs made right. It is these feelings that I wish to get involved in and see if we can bring about change for the better.

By my being on the SGA board this year, I feel that I have been involved in a body that has brought about this kind of change, and I wish to continue to serve on this body and to continue to strive for newer and better policies. It is for this reason that I solicit your votes.

To bring about new ideas and changes takes teamwork. It takes a group that is united in a common cause, and a group that has effective leadership. The group is YOUR SGA board, and the common cause is CHANGE FOR THE BETTERMENT OF ALL THOSE INVOLVED. I feel that I can offer the effective leadership. If I didn't I wouldn't be running.

Your vote next week will be a vote for one who is concerned about the present state of affairs and for one who is willing to take on the responsibility necessary to see that these concerns are satisfied. Your vote next week will be greatly appreciated.
