

The Collegiate

"A free press can of course be good or bad, but most certainly without freedom it will be anything but bad." Albert Camus

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

ATLANTIC CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, OCTOBER 17, 1974

NUMBER SEVEN

Question and Answer Session Tonight

The Student Government Association is having a question and answer session tonight between Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, Thomas J. Hackney, Jr. (chairman of the board of trustees), Miss Naomi Morris, George H. Adams, all members of the Board of Trustees and the student body. The intention of this questioning is for the students to find out how certain trustees feel on matters in the area of social regulations, academic and financial operation of the college. The session will be held in Hardy Alumni Hall, beginning at 7:00 p.m. and over in time enough for everyone to attend the play Tom Jones.

Stecher and Horowitz duo-pianist, to appear at Fike.

Stecher and Horowitz

Stecher and Horowitz, duo-pianists, will present a concert at Fike High School auditorium on Wednesday, October 23, at 8:00 p.m. All ACC students are admitted free upon presentation of their identity cards.

Since 1951, the American duo-piano team of Stecher and Horowitz has won critical acclaim and audience bravos at concerts across America. Their extensive international tours of Canada, Central and South America have been equally successful. They have brought to the European continent an art form which has been dormant for decades. Their acceptance by critics and audiences has been overwhelming and heart-warming.

Each of these brilliant musicians is a keyboard master in his own right. Together, they accomplish much more than simply the pairing of two outstanding talents. They form a unique musical empathy in which two pianos and four hands become one artistic spirit. The result is an unforgettable musical experience.

All interested ACC students are urged to attend. The concert is sponsored by the Wilson Concerts, Inc., and the ACC Concert and Lecture Committee.

Mime at Stewart Theatre

The Claude Kipnis Mime Theatre, which comes to Stewart Theatre, N. C. State University on October 21 at 8 p.m., has a diverse repertory developed over the more than five seasons the group has been touring together.

The company of eight includes four men and three women, all of whom were students of Kipnis.

The genius of Claude Kipnis has been savored by audiences in many countries through many media. Hailed by a leading critic as "one of the giants of contemporary theatre," he has created works for solo mime, mime troupe alone, and mime troupe with orchestra; has performed on television; lectured on Mime, and published a book on mime.

Claude Kipnis was born in Paris and after studying with Marcel Marceau, founded a school of mime in Tel-Aviv. Since coming to the United States during the 1965-66 season for a nine-week engagement at New York's Theatre du Lys with "Men and Dreams", he has had his company on extended annual tours of North America. He has appeared at many colleges and universities as well as the Revivia Festival and the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival. His most recent work, "Pictures at an Exhibition", had its premiere in New York in June, 1974.

Because of subsidies from the National Endowment of the Arts and the North Carolina Arts Council, tickets for this event are only $3.00. For reservations call the Stewart Theatre Box Office, 737-3105.

ACC Band

The Atlantic Christian College Band is just beginning a progressive new year as a major college organization. On October 3, during the regular band practice period, a new slate of officers was elected. A quick summary of the semester's activities was given after the election by Marvin Lamb, the group's director.

Officers for the upcoming year are a trio of clarinetists. The newly elected President is Claudia Spaulding, a first chair clarinetist who accepted the position graciously. The Vice-President is Debbie Jordan, a new member of the band who shows much promise within the organization. Donna Marino was elected Secretary. She is also a new member of the band with a recognition of service within the organization.

Food Stamps Available

By RANDY HOLOMAN

"Are you aware that hundreds of thousands of you who are college students and young Americans living in communes are eligible for food stamps? Or that millions among us who are not on welfare also now qualify for the stamps? Do you even know how to determine whether or not you are eligible or how to apply?"

The previous excerpt was taken from a column by Sylvia Porter published just recently in a local newspaper. It is representative of other reports which are leading some college students to believe that they are automatically eligible for food stamps now under a sweeping new federal program.

Contact was made with the Wilson County Department of Social Services-Food Stamp

Division to get the true facts of the matter. The following information tells about the food stamp program and how it might apply to you or I as a student at Atlantic Christian College.

The Agriculture Dept. has now officially conceded the obvious: food prices will continue to climb in the months ahead. This along with the destructive spiral in prices generally will bring the inevitable side effects of a new surge in the numbers of Americans eligible for the federal food stamp program.

It is true that in July the eligibility rules were significantly liberalized. At one time the parents of the household had to be eligible if they claimed the child as a dependent and the child had made application for food stamps. A ruling by the Supreme Court declared this unconstitutional.

Eligibility requirements which a student here at ACC as well as any other educational institution must go through and complete before eligibility is established are: (1) He must meet household criteria and (2) He must meet income standards.

To meet household criteria a person or group of persons, whether related or unrelated, must share COOKING FACILITIES, usually buy food together, eat together, and pool resources and share expenses. Members of and commune meeting these requirements ought to qualify. In other words, a household is usually present according to the law when COOKING FACILITIES are present. Students living on campus are automatically disqualified unless school policy changes. Thus, an off-campus apartment or residence dweller seems to be the most likely candidate here at ACC.

However, one must also meet income requirements. This can become rather complicated and is based on several factors such as net monthly income, mandatory expenses (i.e. tuition, book fee), and income from other resources such as (cash on hand, bank accounts, stocks, bonds, and real or personal property). More simply, a college student evaluated on an income scale by figurement of net income after the above three categories are investigated. A statement from the parents or legal guardian is also required as to the amount of financial assistance they contribute to the student.

Did you know that you, as a student here, may well qualify if (1) You are the only member of your household and it has been established that you have a household (i.e. by presence of cooking utensils), (2) You have a net monthly income not exceeding $194 and (3) You have another resource limit not over $1,500. Eligibility requirements increase as figures rise in each category.

Now where and how to apply. Application can be made at the local Department of Social Services-Food Stamp Division on Douglas Street if you think you are eligible. The head of the household or another adult member of the household who has the authority to act for him must apply himself. A social services worker will take applications. Persons should take the following papers with them so that their eligibility may be determined.

- (1) Social Security card
- (2) Rent receipt or record of mortgage payment

See FOOD STAMP Page 4

Cauley's Recital Slated

Mrs. Gilda Avery Cauley of LaGrange, will be presented in a senior voice recital at Atlantic Christian College, in Howard Chapel, at 8 p.m. on Oct. 24.

A mezzo soprano, she will be singing works by Lotti, Carissimi, Duparc, and Schirmer. Men of the Atlantic Christian College choir will assist in presenting Johannes Brahms' "Rhapsody," from Goethe's "Harzreise in Winter." Another featured work will be the song cycle, "I Hate Music," by Leonard Bernstein, which expresses the confusion of a 10-year-old.

Mrs. Cauley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Avery of LaGrange, will be accompanied by Patricia Harrison, a senior piano major at Atlantic Christian who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harrison of Wilson.

While attending high school at South Lenoir, she received the Choral Award in her senior year. During her two years at Mount Olive, she studied with Catherine Warren. During her sophomore year, she won the Cora Lee Spivey Music Award for outstanding work. Since transferring to Atlantic Christian, she is studying under J. Ross Albert. She is a member of the ACC Vocal Ensemble and the college choir and has performed solos in several churches in Wilson and other cities.

A reception is to follow the recital. The public is invited. There will be no charge for admission.

Photo Products

Amateur and professional slide photographers are being given a new opportunity to reach a larger audience with their products by Alba House Communications, a service of the Society of St. Paul.

Alba House, located in Canfield, Ohio, has announced that it will audition color or black-and-white slides for consideration as part of its continuing film strip and slide production and release program.

The Pauline organization concentrates its activities on the production of religious and inspirational books, film-strip and slide presentations, phonograph records and cassettes, motion pictures, and related audio-visual media.

Slides received by Alba House will be evaluated for possible reproduction and release through the society's world-wide network of marketing outlets.

The Alba House Communications Center is a service of the Roman Catholic Society of St. Paul dedicated to the adoption of the mass media as instruments for communicating the message of the Gospel.

Slide photographers are urged to take advantage of this new opportunity by sending their slides to Brother Cahill at Alba House Communications, Canfield, Ohio 44406.

Young Voters Involved

The United States Senatorial campaign for Bill Stevens has announced the formation of a state Steering Committee on Youth Affairs.

The Youth Program, called North Carolina Young Voters for Bill Stevens, has been actively organizing since the end of May.

The following have agreed to serve as members of the Young Voters for Stevens Steering Committee:

Don McCauley, former University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill football star.

Bill Chambers, former UNC-CH basketball player; Deborah Swann, student government president, North Carolina Central University, Durham; Jim McAbee, student government president, UNC-Greensboro

English Majors Meeting
Oct. 22
11:00 a.m.
210 Hines