Wanted: Director of romance Matchmaker for rich and famous seeks assistant

(NAPS)—Attention hopeful romantics! Do you have an innate "sixth sense" in matching up people and have numerous love-struck friends, relatives and business acquaintances that you've successfully paired with that "special" someone to prove it? Why not use these truly out-of-the-ordinary skills to start a new career?

A "truly unique, glamorous, one-of-kind dream job" is available to the "average Joe," says Robert M. Davis, a noted love, romance and relationship expert and President of Mate-Search International.

"My business is booming and has become too big for one cupid to handle alone. I'm conducting a national job candidate search for a "Jack or Jill of all trades" to cater to the extremely personalized needs of my upscale clientele as a sleuth, talent scout, psychotherapist, confidante, hand holder, intermediary, analyst and boy scout leader all-wrapped-up-in-one.

Davis' company has the distinction of being the world's only retainer-based matrimonial search firm that specializes in executives of the Fortune 500/ "Who's Who" of the arts, society, politics, media and entertainment, fashion, business and sports. He counts among his clients movie stars, socialites, diplomats, politicians, business tycoons and professional athletes, as well as everyday folks. His fee is $10,000 for 10 matches.

Since he founded his firm seven years ago, Davis has traveled to more than 120 countries on love-search assignments and claims responsibility for 18 marriages, 16 engagements and 17 cohabitations. Some noteworthy successes include: finding wives for a Saudi Sheik, a prominent law school dean and a Fortune 500 C.E.O. as well as husbands for a major Hollywood star, best-selling romance novelist and famous high society heiress.

In his never-ending quest to find mates for his clients, Davis is always on the lookout for "quality" people to add to his database-of-love and encourages single individuals to send three photos, a chronological resume, profile of themselves/what they seek in a mate.

This is a free service (as clients pay his fee) and is a great opportunity to meet and possibly marry a world-class Mr. or Ms. Right.

Davis can be reached at Mate-Search Int., 2024 Stone Ridge Lane, Villanova, Pa. (610) 527-6749.
