

WINSTON MILL

SHIPPING DEPARTMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sutton and sister visited friends in Martinsville, Va., Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee DeHart and Lena White enjoyed a picnic dinner at Cascade Falls recently.

We have six enrolled from this department for the swimming class. Come on girls, let's learn to swim.

We are glad to report that Vera is improving rapidly, and she wishes to express her appreciation for the flowers sent her and for the many visits made her from this department.

Daddy Turner Carter has been all smiles for several days. We expect to see him coming to work walking with a cane soon. Turner don't get gray-headed because you are a "papa!"

Miss Pluma Bowles has returned from a week's vacation at Myrtle Beach, S. C. Iva Lee sends love to all her friends in this department. She is now Mrs. Maxwell and is making her home at Myrtle Beach.

Dr. Annie Sutton is making good since she has been appointed to have charge of the First Aid department.

NAPPING AND WASH ROOM

Mrs. Louise Martin spent last Saturday with her daughter, Mrs. W. N. Norman.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Norman and Mrs. Gazelle Longworth spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Petree.

Joe Masten, Bill Murray, Pete Southern, and Lonnie Hanks went on a fishing trip to Swansboro recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hege spent last week-end at Farmer's Fishing camp near Sparta.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. and W. N. Norman had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bob Boaz, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Norman and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Norman.

Rev. J. T. Murray will conduct a revival meeting at Elkin next week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sprinkle spent the past week-end at Crutchfield.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Emma Parish is sick. Emma, we hope you will soon be back on the job.

Mrs. Lillian Saunders spent last week-end with her sister at Sedge Garden.

Mrs. Ella Jarvis, Miss Ruby Gough and Mr. Francis Jarvis, attended Bethsadia church picnic Sunday, August 5th.

Miss Thelma Pettyjohn visited friends in Boonville the past week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Norman had as their guest the past Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Long, Hugh and E. G. Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Long.

Mrs. Margaret Coe visited Myrtle Beach the past week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hege were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Norman last Sunday.

FINISHING DEPARTMENT

What are we poor girls in this department going to do? Bruce Jr. is going to the City Hospital three nights a week, and we think that is too much.

George Petree spent the week-end in the mountains.

Hallie Ball and Elizabeth Smith went swimming at Crystal Lake Saturday night. Hallie tried to ride the wheel and it turned over, but I think Conrad put it back up for her.

Mrs. Ralph Gentry and family attended a surprise birthday dinner last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gentry.

Mrs. Shore visited friends and relatives in East Bend recently.

Miss Linda Fishel and Vera Austin visited a school mate of Vera's in Bristol, Tenn., the week-end of August 4th.

Some people are very lucky to have a helper in washing dishes. How about it M—?

Melba Lee and Ima Gene Bowen spent the week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bowen recently.

Mrs. Nonnie Bowen went to a surprise birthday dinner near Kernersville last week-end.

Mrs. Nell Petree's mother-in-law from New York, is spending this week with her.

Miss Lola Long went on a fishing trip to Farmer's Fishing camp last week-end.

Gladys seems to like to go on fishing trips, too. She went on a fish fry last Saturday night. I believe she had rather eat than fish. What do you say, Gladys?

Mrs. Ruth Steelman visited friends and relatives in Virginia, over the week-end.

Beatrice Conrad spent last week-end in Statesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Holcomb spent the week-end in Elkin.

Mrs. Collie Church has guests from Elkin.

Miss Nonnie Ball spent the week-end with her sister, near Yadkinville. Nonnie, we wonder why you go to the country so much.

Margaret Hilton and friends went on a picnic Sunday. Margaret likes picnics. She is going to Blowing Rock this week-end.

WINSTON OFFICE

Reporters: We've completed our term, our first term, in the service of the Blanketeer—and since my term was very short and cannot be counted as a standby for the first year of our paper, may I say you've been a success.

Just as it was the first experience as Editor for our Editor-in-Chief, Associate Editors, etc., so it was our first attempt as reporters. The News we have given hasn't been all that it might have been the good as far as we've gone. For instance, I could have told you that each day the mill runs you could place beds side by side for seven miles and walk along with either a double or single blanket and put one on each bed. That's a lot of beds and it takes a lot of walking for our salesmen to put the blankets there.

You may get discouraged some times as we all do and wish you could be the boss and sit with your feet on a desk and have life easy but if you were given that post just for a few days with the worry and responsibility of selling all these blankets every day you would be so glad to be happy in your own duty. Last week our Bosses and Salesmen were all over the country, from coast to coast, from gulf to lakes and this week they are in New York with Mr. Chatham and Mr. Butler trying to sell to the buyers from all over the country who have gathered there for the Linen Domestic Show. We have a picture of their feet on a desk, but in reality they are shuffling on floors, streets and roads.

They must know the quality of blanket needed by each buyer and have samples of each of these on hand. It is our job to see that the blankets are made and finished perfectly and it is their job to sell, each is important. They want us to work every day and worry when we don't, and we want to work every day and worry when we don't and for us all to be happy all must work.

There are lots of interesting things you could tell from each department. Ask your boss for some facts in your department. I know you are busy and the boss too, and we hesitate to bother them but if we are the kind of reporters we read about we'll hang around, go thru windows and we'll get some real news.

But don't forget to write the trips and visits made by each one in your department, not the same ones each week, for it is our paper and we all want to see our name in it once in a while. That is one of the best things our paper does, acquaints us with the employees of the company. Has anyone ever asked you, "does so and so work for Chatham?" and we've had to answer: "I'm sorry but I don't know." If we read our paper and see the names from each department once in a while we'll know.

Now you reporters, including the ones from the sales offices, profit by our mistakes and failures and make our paper what it could be next year.

We are glad to have Eleanor back this morning looking so well after an illness of several weeks.

ELKIN MILL

Miss Irene Nance and Ruth Kimmer, of Iowa, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Reece.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Hayes and children, Opal and Joe, spent Sunday at Roaring Gap.

Mrs. Pearl Lyons of Traphill spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Dock Wagoner.

ELKIN OFFICE

Still we work—finding very little time for play. Nobody ever goes any place or does anything worth writing about it seems. Except, of course, we take in all the ball games. And do we get excited! Wait until you see John Jones whooping and yelling and banging everybody near him in the back. When Elkin makes a home run our paymaster just about runs wild. Well, anyway we all owe a lot to our splendid ball team for the exciting entertainment they have and are giving us.

If the writer remembers correctly, Cone Cox went fishing in New River sometime way back in July, and—such "fish stories" he did tell. All about holding the seine way up above the water and great big bass, carp, catfish, etc., just deliberately "high diving" right into the seine. Ask Cone about it. He can almost tell this one without even a grin.

Mr. Jim Lillard was away from the office for a few days last week, sick in bed. Mr. Jim said they hid his clothes and thought they would force him to take a nice, long rest—but, he sneaked out of bed, when no one was looking, found said clothes and rushed down to the office to find out if his job was still here, etc. We are all glad to have Mr. Jim back with us and hope he won't be sick again.

Mr. Caldwell came in from the wool section of Virginia and was in his office today long enough to give the writer some extra work to do. Nice man!

Little Jimmie King Lillard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lillard entertained the following guests at dinner on his tenth birthday Sunday: Dr. D. W. Holcomb and Miss Margaret Edwards, of Winston-Salem; Miss Emily Hagler, of Euchee, Tenn.; Misses Thorburn and Sarah Kelly Lillard, and Rosamond Neaves, of Elkin.
