

WINSTON MILL

SHIPPING DEPARTMENT

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Coe, of Dobson have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Allen Banner for several days.

Miss Pluma Bowles spent Sunday with Mr. Dorman Joiner, at her home in Harmony.

Mrs. J. H. Maxwell, of Myrtle Beach, S. C., was a visitor here Thursday. Mrs. Maxwell will be pleasantly remembered as Miss Iva Lee Blanton, who formerly worked in this department.

We regret very much to report the illness of Elmer (Shorty) White, who is a patient at the City Hospital. Mr. White was reported to be resting nicely as our paper went to press.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee DeHart spent Sunday in Boonville.

Miss Lena White spent the week-end at Roaring Gap recently.

We are very glad to have Vera Biggs back with us.

We think there are a few people who would like for the worlds series to continue indefinitely. How about this, Mr. Ezra?

NAPPING AND WASH ROOM

Miss Grace Masencup spent last week-end in Bassett, Virginia, she reported a nice time.

One of our little "midgets" had too much fair this year. She says, the "Shy Rocket" was the thing.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hege attended the Hampton reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hampton, on 16th street Sunday, October 7th.

Mrs. Eula Jarvis and son, Francis, motored to Rosemary, N. C. on September 28th and came back on Sunday. Mrs. Jarvis says she had a good time even though she did catch a cold.

Miss Vera Austin visited her brother in Elkin last Sunday.

We are glad to welcome Mrs. Glenn Martin back on the force after a few weeks absence.

Getting "haircuts and permanent waves" is the fad in our department. Now, come on, Sally and Longworth, and give us the low down.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hanks had as their week-end guests Billy Baugus, Bryant Baugus and James Bauus, of Roaring Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Long celebrated their silver anniversary on Sunday, October 14th. Approximately one hundred guests called during the day.

Fat Futrell attended the Duke-Georgie Tech football game Saturday.

C. store in Martinsville, Virginia.

William Woodruff and Howard Steele were the week-end guests of Aunt Jenna at her cabin near Louisville, N. C.

Grayson Lakey wishes to report that his long lost hound dog, "Drum" has returned home.

Ralph Sprinkle spent the week-end of October 14th at his home near Bethania.

John Shappenfield attended the Duke-Georgia Tech football game at Durham Saturday. It was just too bad that John couldn't hit all the cars on the road that night coming home. John, is your car still in Burlington?

FINISHING DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Mae Whitner's daughter, who was run over by an automobile last week, is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams visited relatives in Virginia recently.

Earline, why do you like Greensboro so well? There must be some good-looking men down there. Am I right.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Church and friends spent the past week-end visiting relatives in Elkin.

Mrs. Nonnie Bowen has as her guest her brother of Springfield.

We are sorry to report the illness of Corma Harrell. We hope she will soon be back. Are you sure you are not love-sick, Corma?

Margaret Hilton came to work one morning recently with two blue spots on her neck and Thursday she had to have her tonsils removed. For further details of the case see a certain cutting room boy.

Most all the Finishing room girls have fallen for Lefty McIlwee since he returned from home with his new car.

Mamie Apperson is still carrying the torch for Mr. Joyce. It's beginning to look like the real thing.

Carrie Caudle looks blue these days, because her boy friend has left town. Maybe he'll come back, Carrie.

Clara Lawson is still trying to get Ellis to marry her, but he says he can't be caught.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gentry had as their guests over the week-end the former's parents, of Boonville.

We are glad to see Lillian Myers back at work after several weeks' illness.

John says he would like to have one of those free suppers. How about it, Bill?

Nonnie Ball had as her guest over the week-end her sister, Mrs. Dinkins, and small son of Yadinville.

Misses Madie Austin, Linda

Fishel and Vera Austin, attended the football game in Raleigh last Saturday night. They say Lefty McIlwee and Charlie Gough went to Raleigh also. We are not sure whether they went in the same car or not.

WINSTON OFFICE

With the cooler weather and the Great Artist making a beautiful flower garden of all the forest, we are reminded of what an old very religious negro said while in conversation with friends he was asked if he was afraid to die: "Well, no, but this earth am so purty and mes likes it so well mes hopes the good Lord will let mes stay here." Now aren't we all like that?

This office is glad to welcome Charlie Weaver back after a few months in the New York office. (I would tell you something, but I'm a country girl and likes bananas and was given one this morning by a certain party to be good and tell no tales.)

Those attending the Duke-Georgia Tech football game at Durham Saturday were: Mr. Chatham and Mr. Butler, accompanied by their guests, Mr. E.H. Etling and Mr. A. Breyer, representatives of Riche's, at Atlanta, Ga.; Misses Mamie Dyer and Lola Wooten; Messrs. Bob Hartness, Charlie Dixon, Charlie Weaver, R. M. Ogburn, Hardie Graham, R. W. Harris, John D. Eller, Bill Harris and Nig Plaster. A good game and are these Duke boys around here proud of themselves.

The Younger Business Girl's Club held its annual Employer-employee banquet Friday evening at the Robert E. Lee Hotel, with seventy in attendance. Subject for the evening, "What to do with our leisure time?" Prof. Laster Campbell, of Campbell College, was the principal speaker. Mr. Butler and Mr. Chatham were the guests of Inez Hinshaw and Roxie Bowen.

We should be very proud of our company, for we are among the first pioneers of Little America. One year ago when Admiral Byrd and his party started for a second expedition they carried Chatham blankets and a Chatham cow. This week we received an order from this party for sixty single blankets to be shipped to this new country, Little America.

L. H. C. Club of Elkin

Tuesday evening, Oct. 9th, the members of the L. H. C. No. 1 again welcomed the cosy little club room at the Methodist church and made plans for the winter months. Due to the fact that we are so fortunate as to have a club house built for us, a bigger and better program has been planned for the coming fall and winter. For the first time classes are being planned for our members. A class in art will be taught by Miss Estelle Powers for the first six weeks. Following this a class in English will be held for a period of six weeks. After the completion of our Club house a six-weeks class in cooking will be taught. A Book Club has been organized and at the close of the year, all books owned by the Club will be turned over to our library which will be at the Club house.

The programs for the fall months are as follows: Nov. 6th, Religion, by Rev. E. W. Fox; Nov. 13th, Health, Dr. Harrell; Nov. 20th, Music, Miss Carolyn Lillard; Nov. 27th, History, Miss McCracken; Dec. 4th, Art, Harold Click; Dec. 11th, Athletics, Mr. Hambright. This completes our program plan up until Christmas.

Plans are being completed this week for our girl's basket ball team.

The Lucy Hanes Chatham Club No. 2, has also completed their plans for the fall months. For their regular meetings a class will be taught on "The Famous Women of the Bible", by Miss Austin. Upon the completion of this course a class in English will be taught. The girls are making scrap books, using various subjects such as the large cities in N. C., famous women of N. C., great preachers of N. C., N. C. Industries, etc. At the close of the year these books will be judged and the one having the best one will be given a prize. These scrap books are to be sent to some children's institution as Christmas gifts. A quilt is also being made and will be sold to raise money to buy some furniture for our new club house.

The welfare committee reported seven baskets of flowers sent to the sick for the month of October.

Winston Mill Looking Toward Winter Sports

Basketball practice for both boys and girls will start with the next ten days. The girls team will be strong this year, if the material already on hand performs as well as it should. Practices will be held twice a week at one of the four gymnasiums available in the city.

Plans are being made to arrange games for the girls on the same nights that the boys play making it a double attraction for the basketball fans.

The boys team will practice twice a week also, but on different nights.

Several men from last year's team will be available along with three or four new men. The loss of Holt and Daurenheim is a jolt to the prospects this year, but with hard work and some time this handicap can be overcome.
