WINSTON MILL

SHIPPING DEPARTMENT

Miss Jeanette Fortson was the week-end guest of Miss Nancy White.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Everhart spent the week-end in Lexington recently.

Miss Pluma Boles spent last week-end with her parents near King.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baugess spent a few days with the former's parents near North Wilkesboro last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hardin Adams, a daughter, on Feb. 13th.

Vera: "Where have you been all evening?"

Hubby: "At the office, dear."

Vera: "You must be made of asbestos then, for your office building burned down three hours ago."

Mrs. Mozelle DeHart spent last week-end at Boonville.

FINISHING DEPARTMENT

Gypsy, you had better watch out for there is a certain girl trying to beat your time. She can't stay away from the wrapping table.

Fred Swartzel has decided to go out of the dairy business because he couldn't learn to milk with the cow walking around all the time. Now he is making automobiles. He says they will stay where he puts them.

Margaret Hilton seems very popular since she had a telephone installed in her home.

Earl Conrad certainly likes to hang around some of the folding tables. We wonder why, could it be Margaret?

Mrs. Mollie Phillips spent the past week-end in Elkin. We understand Johnie Yarboro wanted to come with her but his mother didn't trust Mollie.

Mrs. Lucy McKelvin is ill with a cold at her home on Chatham road.

Hallie and her boy friend stay mad most of the time, but it seems strange that she gets boxes of candy so often and she never has to carry her groceries home.

Since Clara has married Ellis is looking for a new girl friend. Girls, you should have been at the "Y" Friday night. You might have had a chance.

We folders will be glad when Gypsy gets back upstairs. Maybe we will get a table some time without going after it.

Among our sick this week we find Earline Mayberry, Lucile Pitts, Raymond Sprinkle and Clayton Gough.

We wonder if Odell Mayberry got to go to the Valentine dance? We understand he started.

We believe our department had the largest representation at the party Friday night. Those of you who stayed away certainly missed a good time.

Miss Madie Austin spent the week-end in Elkin.

NAPPING AND WASH DEPARTMENTS

We wish to extend our heartfelt sympathy to Mr. Jess Southern and family in the loss of their daughter and sister, Mrs. F. H. Kester, of Gastonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Wagoner attended the funeral of their little niece, Ruby Lee Sprinkle, Feb. 25th, near Statesville.

Quite a few from this department attended the Oyster Supper held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night which was given for the employees.

Ava Lee is planning to save on her doctor bills in the future. Who is the "red-headed doctor", Ava Lee?

We are glad to welcome Buck Shore to this department.

Herbert Longworth and family have moved to the Country Club Road.

Worth Masten reports that his daughter, Mrs. Collins, has been removed from the Baptist hospital to her home on Northwest Boulevard.

Mr. Earl says he spent the day in rather an enjoyable way last Sunday. He worked all day.

Mrs. Waller, the new married girl in our department, has found out the first lesson in cooking. She burned her arm.

Pauline Gentry is glad that Clara Lawson is married. She has a chance with Ellis now.

W. W. Masten and Marvin Masten spent last Wednesday in Elkin.

We are still at a loss to know just why Clyde Long never goes out of town with the boys to play basketball. They always need a tall center, Clyde, so why not help out just a little.

Voice on phone: "Jim Sewall is sick and can't come to work today. He requested me to notify you."

Jess Powers: "All right. Who is this speaking?"

Voice: "This is my roommate."

Mr. Carl: "May I have some stationery?"

Clerk (haughtily): "Are you a guest of the house?"

Mr. Carl: "Heck, no. I'm paying twenty dollars a day."

What you forget for a moment you may remember for a lifetime. Remember safety.

There is no cork in "cork legs." They were so named in honor of their inventor, Dr. Cork.

L. H. C. Club of Elkin

L. H. C. Club No. 1

The Lucy Hanes Chatham Club No. 1 held their regular weekly meeting on Thursday, February 21st at the Club House, at which time a very interesting Washington's Birthday program was held. During the business session plans were made for the Athletic Club to have charge of the program for the next meeting and the R. B. L. Book Club the next. A contest was planned to get new members for the next month. The girl getting the most new members will be awarded a prize. Plans for the employee-employer banquet were discussed and a committee appointed to make plans for the banquet which will be held some time in April. The meeting closed with the Club Benediction.

One of the most interesting programs given this year was presented at the weekly meeting of the club on Thursday night, February 28th. A short playlet was presented by the members of the Girls' Athletic Association. Q. T. and A. B.'s Romance proved to be a most interesting story. Girls taking part in the short one-act playlet were the following: Roette Cockerham, Estelle Powers, Pauline Morrison, Virginia Ray, Reba Sparks, Dorothy Penfield, Ina Buelin. A solo was rendered by Hortense Darnell. During the business session plans were perfected for an oyster supper to be held at the mill on Wednesday night, March 13th. Octagon soap coupons are being saved by the members to help get some cooking utensils for the clubhouse kitchen. At the next meeting each girl will bring some small article for the house. Following the session a meeting of the R. B. L. Book Club was held at which time new books were exchanged and plans made to present a program for the club at the next meeting.

L. H. C. Club No. 2

At the meeting of the Lucy Hanes Chatham Club at the Club House on February 21st a short program was given in review of the Industrial Girls Conference in Winston-Salem some time ago, following which the Bible Class was held, the lesson being on "Jezebel". These lessons on the "Famous Women of the Bible" have been taught since before Christmas and have proven a great help to the Club members. It was announced that a party would be given by the president, Mrs. Bessie Gilliam, at the Club House on Saturday night, March 2nd, to which the members and their husbands would be invited. A membership contest will begin with the next meeting, which will be held Feb. 28th.

The following letter of sympathy was received by Mrs. Will

Reece and family during their recent bereavement:

"We know that nothing can make amends for the great loss you have all sustained. We deeply realize, from having passed through a similar bereavement, that mere words wholly fail to cheer the almost broken heart, yet we cannot but hope that the heartfelt sympathy of a sincere friend will not be deemed intrusion on your grief. It has been well said that "we weep for the loved and lost because we know that our tears are in vain."

"We would ease your sorrow, and yet know not how. We can only acknowledge that the affliction is God's will.

"Over in the beautiful land we may not doubt your dear one is free from the pains that he so long endured here; and when we gather at the river, is it not a sweet consolation to think that he will meet you on the other side?"

"Commending you to Him who doeth all things well, we remain, in tenderest friendship, the L. H. C. Club No. 2."

HE PAID UP

They were holding a church fair. A young man who had the reputation of being "near" strolled around the stalls.

A pretty saleswoman approached him.

"Won't you buy a cigarette holder?" she asked.

"No thank you, I don't smoke," was the curt reply.

"Or a box of candy?" she asked.

"I never eat sweets."

"Then a pretty pen wiper?" she persisted.

"I don't write."

The young woman's patience was exhausted.

"Look here," she demanded.

"Will you buy a box of soap?"

The young man paid up.

Mr. A. B. Lotka, of Philadelphia, Pa., is spending sometime in the Winston and Elkin mills. Mr. Lotka is here as a representative of the U. S. Quartermaster Division of Philadelphia.

Help the new employee. Teach him the safety tricks of the trade. You may save a life or prevent a serious injury. The new man will appreciate your friendly interest.

Supt. W. A. Neaves is reported much improved from his recent illness and will be able to return to his work at an early date.

2,000 persons die annually from burns. The majority are little tots under five years of age.

There are thirty different races in the Philippines, each speaking a different dialect.

A minute for safety may save a month in the hospital.
