

ELKIN MILL

SCOURING AND CARBONIZING

It's a tie; so far as to which is the biggest liar:—A politician or a seed catalogue.

Mr. Alex Chatham attended the funeral of Mrs. George Bailey of Hickory, formerly of Elkin, last Tuesday.

Mr. S. E. Newman spent last Saturday in High Point on business.

He: "Why does a woman say she's been shopping when she hasn't bought a thing."

She: "Why does a man say he's been fishing when he hasn't caught a thing."

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Newman spent the week-end in Trap Hill visiting relatives.

Charles Hanes spent the week-end in Winston-Salem.

Walter Barnett spent a lonely week-end eating warmed over bread. However, he did perk up and went over near Virginia to kill snakes.

When bigger and better potatoes are grown John Swaim will grow them. He also deals in turnip greens.

Worth Folger is one of the best "India Wool" sackers at the Old Mill. He says "Watch My Dust, Big Boy."

Charles Hanes has a new playmate on a certain third floor and he don't ride the elevator when he makes his rounds.

The Elkin Valley choir held their prayer meeting Wednesday night at Little Richmond Baptist church. The services were conducted by G. W. Hayes. The next meeting will be held next Sunday at Porter Dodson's. A very fine service is anticipated.

We welcome Graham Newman back with us. We hope he can remain down here, since he likes it better.

Worth Tulbert went to North Wilkesboro last Saturday on business.

Fred King visited his brother in Rockford last Sunday.

J. T. Yarboro is sleeping with his shoes on lately. We wonder why?

George Sparks says he just can't wait until circus comes to town.

Red Halsey visited his parents at Mouth-of-Wilson, Virginia last week-end.

Fred Hambright spent last week-end in Charlotte and Columbia, S. C. I'll bet he didn't play monopoly all the time he was gone.

"Talkin' about one's trouble is like dragging a lake for the moon in the water—Remember Minerva—one generation plants the trees, another sits in their shade."

Walt, Old Quaker, Hemric and "Gomery" Lyons have been added to the force down here; carpenter force; patching cat holes.

Hast Laffoon has a little "pooch" for sale. Anybody that wants a sausage dog, it can be had for just one dollar.

Walt Hemric and Charles Hanes have combined their offices with Red Halsey as book-keeper.

Lee Dudley, has taken over Zoda Payne's apartment on the 2nd floor.

POWER PLANT

We welcome Furman Rogers, more commonly known as "Buck Rogers" to the boys down here, to our gang at the Power Plant. We do not know whether the famous "Buck" brought his space ship along or not, but he is determined to have one anyway. We saw him trying to hammer a coal car into shape for one, or maybe he was trying to get the coal out of it. Anyhow we are glad to have you with us, Furman.

Mr. Everette Holbrook is back with us again after a few weeks' "rest" which cost him his appendix. Everette says he can't see that there is any need for anybody to have an appendix. He is getting along better without his.

We see a certain unmarried young man in our midst with a lot of books on "how not to make love" and such, we are wondering just how he is making out. You know we reminded him that this was Leap Year. Now we are wondering who is going to leap, and when, why, and of course where.

Walt and Jake have sold their motor on the Chatham Homespun Boat. Now the question before the house is where to get another one. And how.

Mr. Mont Castevens out of pure love for us, or maybe because he couldn't possibly use them, gave us a gallon of peanuts to plant. Never even shelled them either. Just think of it. Well anyway we are busy planting them, and almost to the end of the first row, when we notice our pet dog "Cricket" right on our heels, but it was some time before we found that the peanuts were following us too, right on our heels, in the dog. We didn't know that dogs ate peanuts. That night the peanuts came up. We didn't know peanuts would make a dog sick either.

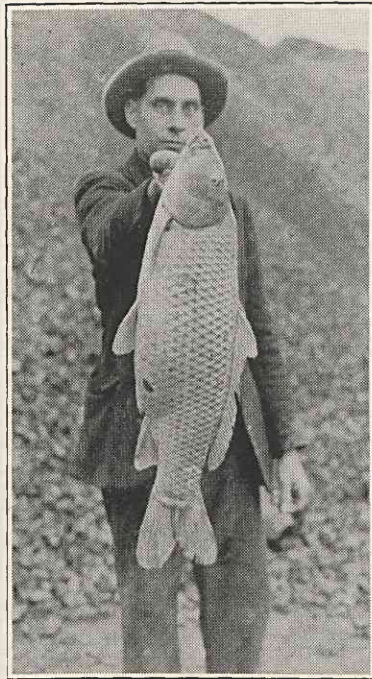

WOOL DEPARTMENT

Mr. and Mrs. James Burcham spent Saturday in Winston-Salem shopping.

Dr. C. A. McAlpine of Winston-Salem spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Hanks on Hospital Road.

We are glad to have Leona Darnell, Fat Laffoon and Harold Here's Proof!

Not unlike the drunk, upon walking into a resort hotel and seeing an unusually large fish mounted upon the wall. Turning to one of the other guests, he remarked, "whoever caught that fish is a d— liar," will be the most of the Blanketeer readers when they see this fish that Mont Castevens caught last week in the Yadkin River. Pictures don't lie, but liars can make pictures. You guess how much the fish weighs, if you would like to weigh it, the scales are right there on the fish.

Lewis back to work after several days absence.

Anyone wishing to buy Beagle hounds see Hasten Laffoon on Elk Spur St.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mrs. John Stout, who is in the Chatham Memorial Hospital. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Shine Rumble and daughter, Elizabeth, spent May 5th in Winston-Salem, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin on Forsyth Avenue.

For several days we noticed Leona Darnell working on the sorting table with one hand, thinking maybe she had injured the other one we examined it and found she was wearing an 18 karat diamond ring and was holding her left hand up so every one could see the "sparkler." We don't know, how "soon." But, guess it will be June.

SHOP

Mr. Roy Chipman has been absent from the shop for the last few days, attending court at Dobson.

Mrs. Walter Lyons of Long Beach, California, who has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Carl DeBorde, of North Elkin, has returned to her home. She left Monday by train, taking the train at Statesville for the trip.

Mr. Lee Neaves spent the week-end at Crumpler, N. C., visiting his father there. Lee reports that his father is recovering from his illness, which is news welcomed with interest to all of Mr. Neaves many friends here.

Curtis Couch is building a new home near the home of his father out at Pleasant Hill community. Curtis is no mean hand at carpentry either. He hopes to occupy the new home at an early date.

BURLING DEPARTMENT

Misses Mable, Ruth and Erlene Sparks, Fannie and Addie Myers spent last Sunday the guests of Miss Mozelle Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Lewyer Pennell, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Carson Freeman enjoyed a chicken stew last Saturday night.

How about it Edith and Ray? Did you get a free pass at the adult show?

Mrs. Myrtle Myers Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Weatherman spent Sunday in Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Long of Longtown spent Sunday the guests of Mrs. Ruth Teague.

Gladys and Vallie Cheeks spent Sunday in Winston-Salem.

Miss Marjorie Reavis of Lone Hickory spent the week-end the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hope Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil McCorkle of New Castle, Ind., and Fae Reavis visited friends near Courtney, Sunday.

How's South Carolina, Daisy? That accounts for the big smile lately.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holbrook moved to their new home in the country Saturday. They formerly lived with Mr. and Mrs. Hope Brown in Jonesville.

What about the boy friend from Winston Husie? We hope it isn't serious.

SPINNING AND CARDING

We certainly will be glad when the election is over in Jonesville.

Hugh Salmons spent the week-end with his mother in Winston-Salem.

Lowell Smithey spent the week-end the guest of his parents in North Wilkesboro.

Jim Young attended the polo game in Winston-Salem, April 26th.

Among those spending the week-end the guests of their parents are the following.

John Kelley, Taylorsville, and Walter Allen Worth, West Jefferson.
