

After a busy day afield, on the lookout for photographic material of interest, your photographer returns to find his subject at home, on the mantel.